Third Arrest Made In Connection With Murder Case

ARTESIA MAN HELD WHILE PROBE MADE

District Attorney's Office Investigates Story of Truck Driver, Report HOLD UP COMPLAINT Filing of Murder Charges Is Delayed Pending Questioning Late Today

BULLETIN
Another trial of a Long Beach man in an Orange county court on a murder charge looms with the filing this afternoon of a formal complaint against Albert D. Nava charging him with the murder of Roy Kirk, Huntington Beach bookkeeper, whose body was found on the running board of his car along the highway near Huntington Beach a week ago last night. It will be remembered that John McClure, of Long Beach, was sentenced to life imprisonment in an Orange county court room after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of murder several weeks ago. Arraignment of Nava is expected to be made late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

A NEW FIGURE was injected into the Kirk murder case Saturday night with the arrest of Roy M. Roberts, 32, truck driver, of 1741 Artesia road, Artesia, for investigation of a story he is alleged to have told fellow roomers the day after the murder, which occurred a week ago last night.
The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter, who has been on the trail of the new suspect since he disappeared from his rooming house last Tuesday. Carter and deputies from the office of Z. B. West, district attorney, are questioning Roberts today in an effort to learn what bearing his story may have on the case.
Filing of formal complaints charging murder against Allen Slater and Albert Nava, Long Beach youths, which was scheduled to take place today has been temporarily held up pending the checking of the story that Roberts is alleged to have told shortly after the murder. Slater and Nava were supposed to have been the men who were engaged in a fight with Kirk which resulted in his death.
When arrested Roberts refused to talk on any angle of the case or to tell concerning where he had been the night Kirk was murdered. Carter said today. He had previously told fellow roomers at his boarding house in Artesia that the reason for his poor appetite Monday was that he had been in an accident the night before and had picked up a dead man and placed him on the running board of a car. This angle of the case is being checked by officers today.

TWO PERSONS seriously injured, one of them is expected to die, two under arrest for driving while intoxicated, and 17 others with varying degrees of injuries from traffic accidents yesterday and Saturday is the toll that stood on the records of traffic officers, county police officials and hospitals this morning.
An alleged drunken driver was the cause of a tragedy at Yorba Linda last evening that resulted in injury of all the occupants of a car that was struck by the driver who is said to have been under the influence of intoxicants and who the report shows admits he was traveling on the wrong side of the road, and as a result of which little 8-year-old Cruz Mena lies at the Orange county hospital at the point of death with a badly fractured skull. B. H. Morgan, 38, laborer, of San Bernardino, was operating the car that crashed into the Mena machine, and after receiving treatment for minor injuries received in the smash, was lodged in the Orange county jail by Deputy Sheriffs A. L. Steward and Tom Scudder.
Others injured in the crash at Yorba Linda were Gonzales Mena, 18, broken pelvis and fractured arm and cuts, Angelita Mena, 29, Manuel Mena, 1, fractured knee, and Albert Mena, 29, cuts.
John Steenberg, 40, Belgian teamster, of Irvine, is the other accident victim who was arrested on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Steenberg was arrested by Deputy A. L. Steward following a wreck about two miles south of Irvine station at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in which Steenberg's car hit a cement culvert and turned over after skidding for about 90 feet according to the report made by Steward. Steenberg's injuries were not regarded as serious by attending physicians at the Santa Ana Valley hospital where he was rushed in an ambulance after the car overturned.

Appointment Of Moses Is Not Popular
Head of Senatorial Campaign Committee Has Own Tariff Views
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—A problem has been created for some low-tariff farm belt senators by the selection of Sen. George H. Moses of New Hampshire as chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, because of his high tariff views.
Senator Moses is regarded around Washington as the champion "wisecracker" of the senate and his talents in that direction probably will be put to full use in fight next year over control of the senate when 32 senate seats are to be filled.
However useful Senator Moses may prove to Republicans generally in this respect, some complications may arise in the cases of a number of senators from agricultural states over the tariff issue which is expected to dominate the congressional elections.
The night before his selection as Republican senatorial campaign chairman was announced, Senator Moses expressed himself regarding the efforts of the senate finance committee to scale down some of the high tariffs in the Hawley bill as follows:
"A growing feeling of resentment is felt throughout the east over what is understood to be the committee's action, that is, boosting the duties

EUGENE BROWN PASSES AWAY IN C. M. T. CAMP
Well Known Santa Ana High School Graduate to Be Buried Tuesday
OPEN AIR funeral services will be held at Fairhaven cemetery tomorrow with the Rev. C. D. Hicks of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church officiating, for Eugene H. Brown, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Brown of 819 Kilson Drive, who died Saturday morning at the Citizens Military Training camp in Monterey. The vesper service will be held at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and scores of friends will gather at the grave to pay their last respects to the young Santa Ana.
Death after an illness of 19 days was caused by pneumonia, with spinal meningitis a contributory complication. Rumors to the effect that an epidemic of meningitis was abroad in the camp were proved to be false when attending physicians declared that the youth had evidently been developing the disease for about a year and every precaution was taken. It seemed so awhile as though Brown's life would be saved by the expert medical care he received at the hands of government officials in charge of the case, until pneumonia set in. The smiling courage of the youth during his suffering caused the opinion to be expressed, "He died as a gentleman and as a soldier."

Drug Addicts Stage Riot In Main Building
Deputy Sheriffs Searching Country Around Pomona For Prisoners
POMONA, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Thirteen of 16 prisoners who escaped from the state narcotic farm at Spadra after a riot at midnight were still at large today, the sheriff's office reported.
The group of inmates, apparently moving on a prearranged schedule, smashed windows and doors and overpowered attendants in the break for freedom.
The disturbance started in north building where all patients were drug users in various stages of treatment.
More than 100 inmates were in the building but only 16 succeeded in getting out. Three of the 16, Charles Rivers, William Graham and Robert Hall, were retaken.
Deputy sheriffs helped in subduing the patients who did not flee and all county officers were ordered to search for those who fled.
Inmates at Spadra are treated with daily doses of morphine, and in an effort to control the drug habit the limitation has been numerous.
Desire for narcotics was given as the probable cause of the riot.

REPARATIONS CONFERENCE TO OPEN AT THE HAGUE TUESDAY

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—With the departure for The Hague of Great Britain's delegation to the international political and reparations conference, the most complex question among the political experts here today was whether England's representatives will dare defy the bloc composed of France, Italy and Belgium in connection with the division among the allies of the reparations payments to be paid by Germany on the Young plan.
It was held here that Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer and head of the delegation to The Hague, has gone to the conference determined to maintain as far as possible Britain's position on the Spa agreement percentages and also to appeal for a reconsideration of the whole policy of reparations payments in kind.
It was believed that he would put up a strong fight against the Young plan as it stands now, particularly in view of the fact that any reductions in British reparations under the young plan must ultimately affect Snowden's budget.
The Young plan, it was figured out, would give Great Britain $12,500,000 a year less than the figures reached at the Spa conference, which would make a great difference in British budget, directly affecting the chancellor of the exchequer.
BERLIN, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Germany's delegation to the international political and reparations conference which begins tomorrow, were enroute to The Hague today, headed by Dr. Gustave Stresemann, foreign minister.

REFUELING IS STARTED FOR CRUISE

Start of Round World Trip Will Begin Immediately From Lakehurst Airport ARRIVES ON SUNDAY
Huge Dirigible Ends Flight To United States Sunday—Thousands On Hand
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Refueling the Graf Zeppelin for her round-the-world flight began today about 14 hours after her arrival here on a non-stop flight from Friedrichshafen, Germany. She is scheduled to leave Wednesday.
Ninety-five hours and 20 minutes were the dirigible's flying time from the take-off in Germany until she was pulled to the ground here like a lassoed steer at 6:59 p. m. E. S. T. It was not until 12:50 a. m. today that a harassed ground crew was able to overcome a gusty wind to place the Zeppelin in the security of the hangar.
The Graf brought a mixed burden of passengers, a stowaway, a chimpanzee, a gorilla, one grand piano and 600 canary birds.
Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander, bettered the time of his journey last October by 17 hours and 26 minutes. It was on that trip that winds ripped the Graf's fabric and threatened her with disaster. The journey just ended was without accident.
Like paying guests at a circus, the crowds which thronged this field for hours awaiting the Graf's arrival left before the best part of the show, which began when the Graf was unhocked from the mooring mast and headed for the hangar.
Four hundred and twelve grunting sailors tugged at hawsers. A sailor with a green flag trotted behind Lieut. Commander Vincent Clark, in charge of landing operations. The bunting showed where to look for orders.
Fifty yards would be covered without difficulty when a tardy gust of yesterday's high wind would strain the ropes for control of the envelope.
Down the wind and around the hangar the Zeppelin was hauled and shouldered. Time after time her nose was pointed for the hangar only to be swung aside by air currents. Added interest arose from the fact that a mishap might ignite the inflammable hydrogen with which the Zeppelin is filled, blowing the spectators, the ground crew and much of the air station into nowhere.
Finally the Graf was shoved home. Plans to begin immediate refueling were abandoned, largely because of lack of man-power.
Eckener was assigned quarters in the station but most of his crew slept aboard ship. The 19 passengers, including seven Americans, hurried away to New York in a special train after passing custom and immigration inspections.
Estimates of the welcoming crowd varied from 20,000 to more than 100,000. Not more than 10,000 automobiles are believed to have been marked here at any one time but an endless procession came and went for hours and probably carried 50,000 to 75,000 persons through the station.
Loud speakers kept the listeners informed of the ships progress toward Lakehurst, but it was a tiring crowd that was revived by word from the hangar top at 5:58 p. m. E. S. T. The Graf then was nosing directly for the hangar and about 15 miles out over an expanse of scrub pine forest. She seemed motionless in the east to west coast.

HOOVER FAVORABLE TO SMOOT SLIDING SCALE FOR TARIFF ON SUGAR, SENATORS DECLARE

By PAUL F. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Sugar has become the political issue of the day here, attracting the interest of President Hoover, senators of both parties, the new Democratic publicity agency and the countless lobbyists on hand to represent the various factions.
The president, returning from his week-end camping trip to the Shenandoah valley with Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee, whose sliding scale was proposed last week, brought a new angle into the sugar fight. While there was no official announcement of what Mr. Hoover thought of the sliding scale, it was generally understood that he was favorable to it.
Therefore, it may be adopted by Smoot's committee as a substitute for the flat 3 cents a pound rate in the house bill.
Mr. Hoover and Smoot found another new angle of the fight had been opened in their absence when Senator Borah of Idaho let it be known he was considering a tariff bounty plan as a substitute for both the Smoot 1 to 3 cent rate and the house tariff duty. The influential Republican orator of the last campaign is favorably considering a proposition to lower the present tariff rate on sugar and in place of such protection to offer American producers a bounty from the treasury of 2 cents a pound on all sugar produced within the continental United States.
Borah's plan would cost about $50,000,000 yearly from the treasury, which might or might not be made up by the low tariff rate, but he says it would be far cheaper for the consumers than either the Smoot scale or the higher house duty.
The mere suggestion that Borah had made such proposition in mind brought him encouragement from several sources, including the American Association of Carbonated Beverage bottlers which has been protesting against the house duty. The Borah plan has gained adherents among other senators, but has not yet been taken up by all the opposition, because of the constitutional objections which some senators have against bounties in any form.
Public hearings on the Smoot scale will be held by the senate finance committee Wednesday.
The democratic publicity bureau has issued a statement by Senator Connolly, Democrat, Tex. in which he said Mr. Hoover should be opposed to the Smoot plan because he is opposed to price fixing.
"It is certain," Connolly stated, "that the sliding scale on sugar is so constructed as to insure a rate higher than the present rate. Sugar is to cost more. Its design is to fix the price. It will also fix the consumer."

CHINESE TONG WAR LAUNCHED IN NEW YORK

Wealthy Harlem Chop Suey Restaurant Owner Killed Early Today
NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—(INS)—Tong war, the worst, police fears, in the history of New York's Chinatown, broke out just before dawn today with the shooting of a wealthy Chinese in Harlem and the accidental wounding of a colored woman in his chop suey restaurant.
Simultaneously, there was a gathering of the tongs in Chinatown, with long distance calls to Chicago and Boston—where men were slain yesterday in the beginning of the war—and hundreds of calls to nearby cities and communities calling in the tong members to prepare for battle.
Peace flags, which have flown for four years over the headquarters of the Hip Sing and on Leong tongs here, were struck during the night, and a great celebration of the Lee Brothers' association, a new tong, ended abruptly with all lights switched out 10 minutes before the Harlem shooting.
Alarmed by reports from Boston, Chicago, Newark and Philadelphia, police and detectives filtered into Chinatown all during the night last night. Following the Harlem shooting, their number was doubled and federal authorities were notified.
Down the wind and around the hangar the Zeppelin was hauled and shouldered. Time after time her nose was pointed for the hangar only to be swung aside by air currents. Added interest arose from the fact that a mishap might ignite the inflammable hydrogen with which the Zeppelin is filled, blowing the spectators, the ground crew and much of the air station into nowhere.
Finally the Graf was shoved home. Plans to begin immediate refueling were abandoned, largely because of lack of man-power.

SHIPPING MAGNATE DIVORCED BY WIFE

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Mrs. Kitty Lanier Lawrence Harriman was granted a divorce here today from William Averell Harriman, New York financier and shipping magnate, on the ground of desertion.
The Harrimans were married in New York September 21, 1915, and have two daughters, Mary and Kathleen.
The divorce is the culmination of a series of disagreements terminating in their separation last October, when Mrs. Harriman left Washington, D. C., to establish her residence in Paris.

TWO KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE CRASHES

BURLINGTON, Ia., Aug. 5.—Paul A. Strawn, San Francisco aviator, and William Shepard, Jacksonville, Ill., student pilot, were killed instantly near here yesterday when their plane crashed as they stunted at a low elevation.
They arrived here shortly before the accident, landed amid dedicatory exercises for the Burlington airport, and took off a half hour later to stunt while waiting for fuel to arrive. The crash, in full view of 5000 persons, came as they attempted to loop at 100 feet. Both bodies were burned.

Chemicals Used To Kill Squirrels Cause Man's Death

SAN JOSE, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Chemicals which he used in killing ground squirrels caused the fatal burning of Ed Cooper in the Pacheco Pass fire on the borders of Santa Clara, San Benito and Merced counties, it was revealed today.
Cooper's clothing became impregnated with the liquid from constant handling in pouring it into squirrel holes, and when sparks from the fire lit on him the chemical instantly flared.
Cooper, riding horseback, made a valiant effort to reach a stream but failed. He was found by Dr. John Clarke of Gilroy, who gave him emergency treatment and rushed him to the Gilroy hospital. Cooper died there after several hours in vain treatment.

Heavy Rain Halts Train, Automobile Traffic On Desert

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Heavy rainfall along the southeastern border of California disrupted train and automobile traffic today. A section of track on the Southern Pacific line was washed out near Wister station, making it impossible to operate trains between Niland and Indio. Officials of the company said traffic might be resumed late today.
Southern Pacific trains temporarily were routed over the Santa Fe line.
Torrential downpours in the vicinity of Joshua, Kelso, Yermo, Caliente and Cima delayed travel on the Union Pacific line. The worst damage was near Joshua, where a portion of a bridge was washed out. The Union Pacific continued to operate its train although they were running slightly behind schedule.
Dry washes were reported running with water from bank to bank and while traffic suffered, the rain was welcomed by stock raisers and farmers.

AVIATOR DIES AS ENGINE EXPLODES

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Virgil Cline, San Jose, Calif., aviator, was killed near here Sunday when his airplane exploded in midair as he flew over the Mojave desert.
The news of the unusual accident was brought to the sheriff's office by Oliver Phillips, superintendent of a mine in the Osdick region.
Phillips said he heard the plane but was unable to see it due to dense clouds. As he listened he heard the motor sputter and an instant later an explosion.
When Phillips saw the plane tumble from the clouds he and a party of miners drove three miles in an automobile and found the wreckage and Cline's body.
Aviators believe the explosion was caused by a leaky gasoline tank.

SEVEN JAILED ON RADICAL CHARGES

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—With six women and one man held in jail, six other persons were sought today on warrants resulting from an investigation of an alleged Communist camp for children in the mountains near here.
The investigation disclosed that about 40 children, ranging in age from 6 to 18 years, were housed in the camp, which was said to be conducted on the model of a miniature Soviet republic.
It was said that the children were in possession of Communist songs and recited a Communist pledge each morning.
Those held in jail were Isadore Berowitz, Belle Mintz, Yezta Stromberg, Emma Schmetternan, Sarah Bertowitz, Sarah Cutler and Ester Karpell.
The district attorney has issued warrants for William Green, Fred Firestone, Catherine Hruschack, Anna Rosenfeld, Rose Spector and Sarah Radkin.

American Killed, Companions Hurt In London Crash

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Henry Poroh, believed to have been an American talking picture engineer, was killed, and two of his countrymen, Raymond King, Rochester, N. Y., and Richard W. Kirkpatrick, were severely injured early today when an automobile which King was driving crashed over a parapet of a bridge across the Thames river at Staines, 19 miles southwest of London.
King was still unconscious at 11 a. m. but hospital attaches said Kirkpatrick's injuries were less critical. The trio in their car plunged 25 feet into the Thames.

NINE U. S. BOMBERS DEPART FOR COAST

conducted by the government of this nation, are cared for in the best way imaginable," they said. "All the skill of Col. Rukke, Major LeGarde and Capt. Lindlow was at the disposal of our son. The devotion of his nurses and the consideration given us were features of a treatment that could not have been excelled."

Brown was graduated from the Santa Ana high school in February with the class of 1928 and was since interested in his father's business where he became an expert draftsman and pattern maker. While in the local school, the youth was a member of the honor society, held student club offices and completed a successful science major. He was particularly interested in marine engineering and often visited the repair ships of the navy with his father at San Pedro.

It was Brown's third year at the C. M. T. camp, where he was a member of an artillery unit and in line for commission as a reserve officer. Standards of the camp are so high that they require recommendations from a teacher, a business man and a minister before recruits are allowed to enter. Brown was highly recommended by H. M. Kinslow, D. K. Hammond and the Rev. C. D. Hicks before leaving for the camp this season and passed the usual physical examinations. His death was a shock to many friends who have known him since he came here 10 years ago from Denver, Colo., with his parents.

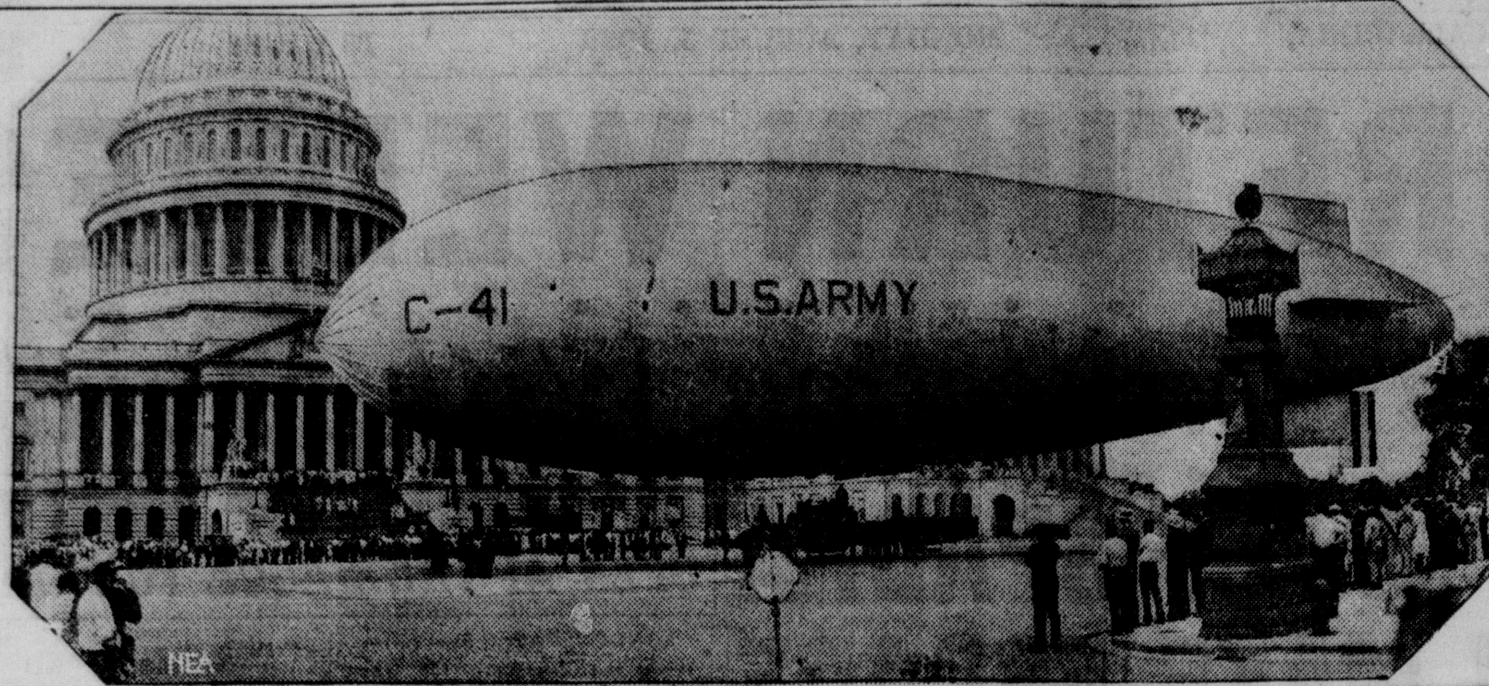

Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Almyra Hudson, affectionately known as "Grandma" by the family, have been associated with the First Methodist church of Santa Ana during their residence in the city. Eugene Brown, deceased, was connected with the young people's work in the Christian and Missionary Alliance church.

Mrs. N. F. Handy, a sister of Mrs. Brown, was expected to arrive here this morning from Denver, Colo.

Aside from his parents and Mrs. Hudson, a sister, Mrs. Arthur Bristow of Turlock, is the only survivor.

NEW SENATORIAL TAXI

This remarkable picture shows the landing of an army blimp within a very few feet of the national capitol building at Washington. As Washington officials gazed from astonishment, the army blimp C-41 slid gracefully down to earth on the capitol plaza and allowed Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, who had been transported from Langley Field, Va., to hop out and hurry into the building to an important tariff committee meeting. The blimp descended and soared aloft again without the slightest mishap.

of agricultural products, the things we have to buy and eat, and taking the duties off those things we must sell to buy things to eat."

This is the reverse of the position taken by senators such as Borah of Idaho, Capper of Kansas, Couzens of Michigan, McMaster of South Dakota, McNary of Oregon, Norris of Nebraska and Schall of Minnesota in whose campaigns, except where they fail of renomination, Senator Moses will be expected to lend assistance.

Moses is regarded as a shrewd political strategist and he is expected to be able to connect with funds which will be of considerable aid to hard pressed senators. He frankly speaks however for the industrial east agrarian senators may not care to have him speak on the tariff in their states, unless he writes himself a speech in different view from any he ever has made on the tariff.

COUNT LUCKNER ONCE POLISHER OF DOOR KNOBS

NE YORK, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The old majestic hotel overlooking Central Park is coming down soon to make way for another New York skyscraper, and one of the chief mourners at its demolition will be Count Felix Von Luckner, German "Sea Devil" of World War fame.

Von Luckner, not only has the sentimental feeling of an old guest for the Majestic; he loves it because he knows every door knob in the place. He polished them 27 years ago.

The huge German nobleman who by his good nature and sportsmanship won over even those he made prisoner, whose daring raids aboard an ancient wind-jammer have become a wartime epic, reveals in the current issue of World's Work magazine that even before the war he knew America better than most Americans—knew it because he walked its railroad ties from coast to coast before he wound up with a brass polishing job at the Majestic.

It was all because he wanted to see Buffalo Bill, hero of American Wild West shows, Von Luckner relates. He had run away from home to go to sea as a boy of 13, but not before he had been thrilled by reading tales of the white-haired scout in Germany.

Long Journey on Foot
Landing in San Francisco on an early voyage, he inquired where Buffalo Bill lived. When told the plainsman lived in Denver, he asked the way and a practical joker pointed to an eastbound railroad track. Von Luckner, penniless, started out to walk to Denver—and did it, after five weeks!

"Sometimes a brakeman let me ride on a train, but mostly it was the ties," he says. "I was hungry, and hunger is a thing I never liked. Sometimes I worked for something to eat, sometimes I could steal some corn or a chicken."

But he got to Denver, intending "to ask Buffalo Bill if I could ride with him and hunt buffalo over the plains of Colorado." Then the heavy hand of irony clapped him in the face. He went to the home of Col. Cody where he was told that Buffalo Bill was with his Wild West show in Germany!

"There was nothing to do but get back to the sea, so I decided to take the ties for New York," he continues. "Only those Americans realize how great their country is who have walked across it on ties." It took him five months to reach New York. Then unable to get a sea-going job, he finally found work polishing brass at the hotel.

"I was in contact with your best people," he says. "I saw them going by—your Morgans and Rockefellers—when I was polishing brass. They were self-made men; an inspiration. Now I always stop there to look at my old door knobs and have a chat with my successors."

ELKS HOLD ANNUAL

HESS AND CARTER READY
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Goldie Hess and Wildcat Carter, down to weight, today ended their training schedule for their 10-round battle at the Olympic tomorrow, and were easing off to keep in top shape for the bout.

Odds which formerly favored Hess, sensational winner over Santiago Zorilla and Tod Morgan, are about down to even money since local fans have seen the work of the negro scrapper from the northwest.

NINETEEN HURT IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

cars operated by Claude Neer, 21, of 911 1-2 East First street, and Mrs. Flavia L. Barker, 830 East Chestnut street, collided. In addition to the driver of the Neer car, three of its occupants were hurt. They were Abbie Neer, 17, and Doris Neer, 17, and Doris Neer, 17.

A mix-up between an Excelsior Ceramery milk wagon and a car operated by M. J. Dutbernd, 1421 Alameda street, Los Angeles, at Dana Point just after noon yesterday resulted in minor injuries to four persons in the Dutbernd car. The crash occurred when Dutbernd failed to notice the milk truck as it made a left turn into a filling station on Del Prado street. In addition to the driver, Dutbernd, Charles Blum, 300 Gendall boulevard, F. M. Bruster, 375 Wilmer street, and Mrs. E. Briggs, of the same address, all of Los Angeles, were taken to a Laguna Beach doctor for treatment of their injuries.

Heavy traffic and a "box car jam" on the Coast road between Seal Beach and Sunset Beach last evening resulted in injuries to Mrs. Arthur P. Clayton, 30, of 1644 Fourth street, San Diego, when she was thrown through the windshield of the car driven by her husband. The motor of George A. Tuttle, 20, of Escondido, was also in the mix-up. Mrs. Clayton was taken to Huntington Beach where her injuries were dressed.

Youthful impulsiveness was the result of an accident on Santa Ana streets Saturday night, when Herbert Armfield, 13, ran out into the street in front of a car driven by R. E. Jennings, of 908 West Pine avenue. Armfield, who lives at 1237 West First street, did not see the car. He received a bump on his chin and bruises on his legs.

Donald McErne, motorcycle rider of Los Angeles, suffered a broken leg when his motor bike crashed into the rear of a Dodge car driven by C. P. Mercer, 4140 Orange avenue, Long Beach. The accident occurred on the Coast highway midway between Seal Beach and Sunset Beach, about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mercer slowed down his auto when traffic ahead got into a jam. McErne, following the Mercer car on his motor bike, could not stop quickly enough. He tried to pass the Mercer car, but there was not sufficient space and his bike tore into the rear of Mercer's Dodge, tearing a fender off the auto and causing other damage. The motor bike was completely demolished. Mercer was picked up after the accident, badly cut and bruised and with a leg broken. He was removed to the Community hospital in Long Beach by the Seal Beach police officers.

Alvin Reboin, 1311 West Walnut street, Orange county champion athlete of Santa Ana high school, high point winner in numerous track and field meets and winner of honors at the state meet in Los Angeles, had a narrow escape from serious injury when his coupe was demolished in a head-on collision on the Coast highway at Central avenue, Seal Beach, late Saturday afternoon. Seal Beach police and state officers held Reboin blameless in the accident. Reboin escaped with minor scratches and bruises. His car was a total wreck.

Kingston Kerr, 3259 Deronda drive, Los Angeles, driving a Chrysler roadster, crashed into the Reboin car as he attempted to pass another car. Reboin was driving toward Santa Ana.

Glass and wreckage was strewn over the highway and Reboin and Kerr were both taken to Seaside hospital in Long Beach where their injuries were dressed. Police said nothing remained undamaged on Reboin's car except three tires. He is a noted pole vaulter and high and low hurdle champion.

wind except for the forward thrust of her motors. Swinging over the field and to the north, the Graf said goodbye with a roar of her exhaust and went cruising over New York City. Half those present had left the field by the time she returned almost three hours later.

Eckner this time slowed his craft, reversed the motors and laid her dead still directly in front of the landing crew. Admiring naval officers remarked the smartness of his maneuver. Brief passport examinations aboard ship ended with Sir George Hubert Wilkins, Arctic explorer, popping out of the cabin, followed by other passengers.

ACCIDENT LIST FOR INDUSTRIES GROWS SMALLER

(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—"Two men killed when scaffold falls." "Man electrocuted while working on high tension wire." "Caught in gears, engineer ground to death."

These headlines have been all too common in California newspapers in the past. But, fortunately, the tide is turning, and a report of the state department of public relations shows a decrease of 78 deaths, in 1928 as compared with the 1927 toll.

The death list for 1928 totaled 646, and of these, 50 were placed on the list as the result of the St. Francis dam disaster. This record, according to the department, is considered the best, considering the increase in population, since the industrial accident commission was created in 1911.

Hazardous occupations are headed by the public utilities, which had 85 deaths in the ranks of workers last year. Engineering construction was close behind with 84 deaths, and building construction was responsible for 67 fatalities. Agriculture accounted for 60 and lumber and wood manufacturing for 51 deaths. Railroad operation had but 51 fatalities, a tribute to the increase accident prevention work among the carriers, the department stated.

A movement is on foot among women to further safety work in the state, so long advocated by the department. The Women's Safety League of Northern California has been formed in San Francisco, and it is anticipated by the department that other leagues will be formed in Los Angeles and other cities in the state.

These movements have been sponsored because women and children are the keenest sufferers from industrial accidents. Each state has a small army of widows and children in distress as the result of the untimely death of the head of the house.

The women meet regularly, and have as their object the promotion of safety in the daily life of workers. Safety problems are discussed and efforts made to secure a practical solution to these problems.

The Pullman Company plant at Richmond has been cited as a model before these safety leagues, with its 16 month record of not lost time accident on a payroll averaging 700 men. Every employee and visitor in the plant at Richmond is required to wear goggles. This is the method employed to reduce eye accidents, which averaged two lost eyes a year and many serious optical injuries before the wearing of goggles was enforced at the plant.

FLOOR OF GOLD

BUDAPEST, Aug. 5.—Digging the floor of her home here recently, Mrs. Simon Siehmann unearthed $2300 in gold dust. She is a widow and while her husband was living he was a goldsmith. He gathered the dust during his life and buried it under the floor. She had a lawsuit with the owner of the house over the ownership of the gold, and the court ruled possession to her.

GIRL PRODIGY IN STARTLING MEMORY TESTS

MOSCOW, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Scientific circles are greatly interested in a mathematical prodigy just brought to public attention here.

Nina Glagoliva, 22 years old, has demonstrated before a commission of reputable scientists her amazing powers of lightning-like mental calculations and her extraordinary memory. She does in her mind, in from two to 20 seconds, intricate mathematical problems which require hours for experts to do in the ordinary way with pencil and paper.

With apparently no unusual effort she extracted the root in the ninth degree of numbers with as many as 20 digits. As to squaring or cubing numbers of only 9 or 10 digits—or extracting the square or cube roots of such numbers—it seems no harder to her than the multiplication table to ordinary humans.

She also accompanied astonishing feats of sheer memory. For instance, she repeated without a single mistake long lists of words read to her not only in the Russian language but in languages which she does not know—Greek, Chinese, etc.

The commission which studied this prodigy consisted of Prof. Kozelnikoff and Prof. Chifevsky, mathematicians; the engineer, Kojinsky, and the physician, Dr. Kiseleff.

They asserted that Nina Glagoliva's powers are greater than those of the famous mathematician Arago or other prodigies of whom there is a record.

Quick stop—Quick pick-up

WE find more people are interested these days in safe driving than in anything else about motoring.

That's one big reason why they are immediately interested in the new Goodyear balloon tire with its new-type All-Weather Tread.

The test is simple and convincing. Just press down with the palm of your hand on a deflated casing of the new-type Goodyear balloon tire and you feel how this remarkable tread under pressure grips and pinches your hand.

Exactly what it does on the road! It "pinches" the road. Seizes, grips and hangs on. SAFETY for you on curves, hills, wet, muddy or snowy pavements, stopping or picking-up in traffic.

And besides this invaluable safety, the extra values of traction, long, slow, even tread wear, quietness and smooth running, good looks, and a trouble-proof casing made of CUPERTWIST cord.

The World's Greatest Value is what we offer you in the World's Greatest Tire. We have your size in fresh new stock, and we give the authorized Goodyear service that helps you get all the built value out.

MAY PURCHASE W. J. MURPHY'S HOSTELRY HERE

That officials of the Pacific Coast Hotels company are seeking to purchase the Santa Ana hotel was confirmed here today when it was revealed that officials of company, which is planning a chain of hotels extending from San Diego to Vancouver, B. C., have held several conferences during the last week with William J. Murphy, managing owner of the Santa Ana hotel.

The proposed hotel chain on the Pacific coast will be affiliated with the Eppley-Hamilton chain, extending from Pittsburgh, Pa. to Santa Monica.

"My associates and I are from the middle west and during our residence in that country we heard a great deal about the city of Santa Ana and the wonderful productive country surrounding the city," declared Fay R. Smalley, manager of the Hotel Alexandria, in Los Angeles, and president of the Pacific Coast Hotels company, today.

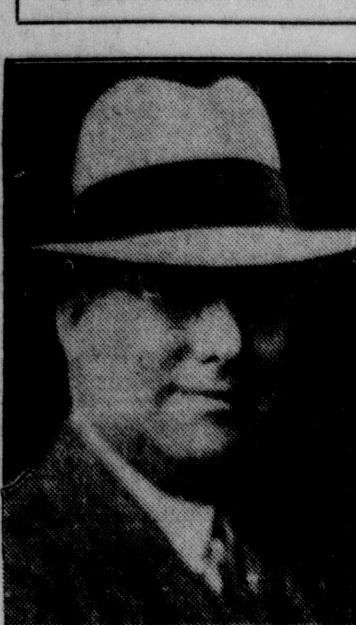

"But the thing I cannot understand is why Santa Ana doesn't entertain more tourists and conduct tour parties. Arrangements should be made to show the eastern tourists through the orchards and packing houses and to persuade them to stay over night in Santa Ana. These folks from the east get a great thrill in picking an orange or walnut from a tree.

"It is true that we are likely to take over the Santa Ana hotel as an operating unit of the Pacific Coast Hotels company. If we do we may build additional room accommodations and I would like to see a beautiful cafe and banquet hall included in the program. I firmly believe that the city of Santa Ana can support a program of this kind, which will be augmented by the large volume of conducted tour business from the east which we now control in our other hotels and which, in practically every case, pass through Santa Ana enroute to the border and San Diego."

Smalley, with Jerome Freeman, vice president and general manager and Frank Kalka, secretary and treasurer of the Pacific Coast Hotels company were in Santa Ana last night for a final conference with Murphy.

YOUNG WINNER OF JOURNALISM AWARD VISITOR

Samuel D. Groff, the first graduate of the school of journalism of the University of Missouri to receive appointment to the Missourian-Yenching Fellowship, and who is visiting in the home of his sister, Miss Stella Groff, of 1210 North Ross street, will leave August 9, on the liner President Garfield, from San Francisco for Peking, China.

Groff will remain in China for two years as a half-time instructor in the Yenching university, where he will be connected with the advertising department and plans to continue his studies toward a master's degree. He will receive the degree of Bachelor of Journalism in June.

Yenching university is a co-educational school, located near the old summer palace of Chiang Kai-Shek, two miles from Peking. Besides Groff, the faculty of the school will consist of Vernon Nash and a Chinese instructor. The institution has a total enrollment of more than 750 students each year.

While visiting his sister, Groff has completed his plans for the sojourn in the Orient. His home is in Grayville, Ill., and he has had considerable newspaper experience, having spent over three years as linotype operator on the Mercury-Independent and acted as advertising manager on the same paper.

NOTED AUTHORS TO BE GUESTS OF ROTARIANS

What is expected to be one of the most entertaining programs of the year will be presented at the Santa Ana Rotary club luncheon at St. Ann's Inn tomorrow. As a special attraction for the Rotary Annes, who are to be the honor guests of the occasion, the program chairmen, Robert Brown and Terry Stephenson, have planned features typical of California.

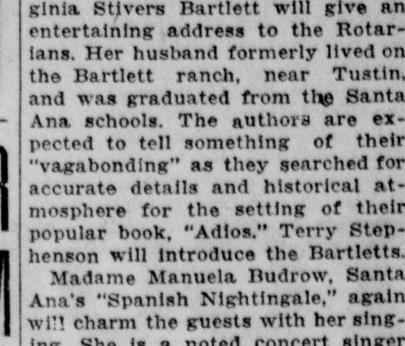

Mr. and Mrs. Lanier Bartlett, of Los Angeles, co-authors of the colorful novel, "Adios," and son and daughter-in-law of Mrs. W. S. Bartlett, who was the founder of the Eboli society of this city, will be present as guests of Brown. Virginia Stivers Bartlett will give an entertaining address to the Rotarians. Her husband formerly lived on the Bartlett ranch, near Tustin, and was graduated from the Santa Ana schools. The authors are expected to tell something of their "vagabonding" as they searched for accurate details and historical atmosphere for the setting of their popular book, "Adios." Terry Stephenson will introduce the Bartletts.

Madame Manuela Budrow, Santa Ana's "Spanish Nightingale," again will charm the guests with her singing. She is a noted concert singer and a great favorite in musical circles. Recognized as one of the leading vocalists in the Southland, Madame Budrow has appeared on various "California" programs within the last year.

A Spanish trio of vocal and instrumental entertainers from Los Angeles also will appear in connection with the musical features of the meeting.

NOT SO HOT TODAY; ONLY 90 DEGREES!

Despite the belief on the street that today was the hottest day of the season, the thermometer at the Hill and Son Hardware company registered "only" 90 degrees at noon.

Although this is "unusual weather" for Santa Ana, earlier this summer the gauge registered as high as 96 degrees. The average temperature in Santa Ana is in the 80's.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 5.—Some one must have told the thief who took the goldfish and carp out of the two fountains of an apartment hotel here that the former was real gold and the latter good to eat. However, the thief was fooled in both cases. The hotel did lose $100, however, for that is what the 24 goldfish were valued at.

SPEEDING CASE IS DISMISSED BY COURT HERE

Louis Jacobsen, well known Placentia rancher, who appealed to the superior court against the conviction of speeding, rendered by Police Judge Thomas Pickett at a jury trial some months ago, heard his case dismissed this morning after a trial before Judge Homer Ames.

This dismissal followed the plea, brought by Jacobsen's attorney, T. L. McFadden, that the conviction could not stand, because of the fact that there was no legal residence zone in Placentia. The ticket given Jacobsen by Officer Jess Buckles was for speeding in a school zone. The first trial was on a charge of speeding in a 20-mile residence zone, on which charge he was convicted, as it was found impossible to hold him on the first charge, the school zone being outside a residence zone and no one being in it at the time.

Testimony given by Officers Buckles and Cagle, and City Attorney Albert Launer showed that the city council had not made provision for residence or business zones, that the signs had been placed by the Automobile club, and that their restrictions could not legally be applied to traffic in the city.

SEEKS DATA ON EARLY SCHOOLS OF SANTA ANA

Pioneer residents of this city today were given an opportunity to contribute to the work of providing facts and statistics regarding the early days of the city's schools.

Miss Beth Phillips, secretary of the board of education, is gathering and compiling material regarding the system and is searching for facts about some of the earlier schools.

The old Washington school, which was used for one year as a high school, is an object in her search, she said today. She is particularly interested in figures revealing cost of the structure and grounds on several early schools.

Data on the cost of the old Roosevelt school, built in 1904, and its equipment is being sought by Miss Phillips. She also is seeking information regarding the old Fifth street school site. She has found information about the trading of a site, closer to the center of the city, for the property where the school actually was placed. She is seeking additional information which will reveal where the closer-in property was located.

Residents of Santa Ana who are able to supply information regarding the early days of the school system will contribute materially to the work of preserving the history of the educational development here.

INSTALL NEW PHONE CABLE

Line Foreman R. S. Hicks standing beside new cable being installed in the central office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, at Fifth and Bush streets. The cable is the first one of its size to be installed outside of New York, according to telephone company officials.

Three-Inch Line Now Being Used Here Carries 1818 Pairs of Wires

Installation of the largest phone cable outside of New York city has just been completed in Santa Ana. A crew of men under R. S. Hicks, line foreman, ran the three-inch lead sheathed cable, which carries 1818 pairs of wires for phone service in congested districts, through conduits from the central office at Fifth and Bush streets north along Bush street for 1500 feet to a point near Washington avenue, it was announced today by Earl Morrow, district manager for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

The cable, containing 3696 separate wires, for service to 1818 phone subscribers, is the largest size that is made and the fact that it was required for service in Santa Ana is an indication of the rapid growth of the city and the progress made by the Santa Ana phone company officials in keeping their equipment up with the resultant demands.

The course of the new heavy duty cable follows the general line of the new cable to Anaheim, but is used for local service only. At the end of the great trunk cable breaks up into several smaller cables to serve various districts in the north part of the city.

Prior to the installation of the large type cable, which previously has been used only in the nation's greatest city, the largest cable in use in Santa Ana was one of 800 pairs. Just within the last few days cables of the 1200-pair size has been received by the phone company for use in installation in the expansion program now under way in this district.

One of the marvels of the new large size cable is that within the diameter of only three inches is contained the thousands of wires going to make up the 1818 pairs.

A boy and a dog, reported to police to be making trouble in the 900 block on East Myrtle street, Saturday afternoon, were rounded up by Detective Sgt. E. E. Perry, who made the boy promise to stop tormenting other children with the dog.

Police were called to Seventeenth and Main streets at 9:40 Saturday night to investigate a report that two men were hanging around in a car. Sergeant Perry reported that two boys were waiting for a friend who worked in a nearby market.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Carter arrested Louis Paulas, 34, Greek dairyman, of Norfolk, Saturday, on a fictitious check charge. The arrest was made for El Centro officers.

Eliseo Lopez, 42, laborer, of Placentia, was arrested Saturday night by Special Deputies Cagle and Lucy, of Placentia, on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor.

Intoxication was the charge that landed O. E. Lemus, 41, laborer, who lives in the Santa Ana canyon, in the county jail yesterday morning. Lemus was booked at 8:40 yesterday morning by Constable Bartley, of Orange.

Huntington Beach police requested Santa Ana officers to assist in the recovery of a car stolen in the beach city yesterday. The machine belonged to G. C. Graham, of 175 North Meredith street, Pasadena, and was taken from Ocean avenue.

SEIZE WHISKEY ARREST TWO IN ANAHEIM RAID

A raiding party, composed of men from the district attorney's office, sheriff's office and Anaheim police force, swooped down on a large house on the old Lemke ranch, three miles east of Anaheim, Saturday, and seized two prisoners, a quantity of whiskey and the equipment of a wholesale liquor plant.

Between 80 and 90 gallons of whiskey in two barrels and several five-gallon containers were confiscated by the officers, as well as 35 empty barrels, 150 new five-gallon cans, sacks of corks, filter papers, and all necessary equipment for handling quantities of liquor. No labels or small containers were found, according to Bob Sandon, special investigator for the district attorney's office who was a member of the raiding party.

Charges of possession and manufacturing were lodged against the prisoners, Nick Glaviano, 30 Italian moulder, of 1035 Stockbridge street, and H. G. Phelps, 20, plumber's helper, 1846 Oak Hill street, both of Los Angeles, when they were booked in the Orange county jail Saturday afternoon.

The men were eating when the party of officers drove up to the house Saturday, according to Sandon, and made frantic efforts to escape. In a chase rivaling those in movie comedies, one of the men stepped through the plaster in the attic while endeavoring to hide from the officers, officers said. Both men finally were captured on the roof of the house.

Books included in the articles confiscated by the officers showed that a tremendous quantity of liquor had been going through the place, Sandon said. Indications are that the liquor has been made at some other point and hauled to the Lemke place, where it was aged and put up in containers for wholesale trade, it was said. The outfit had been set up since a raid made a little over a month ago, when a large quantity of mash was discovered in the barn at the place, Sandon said.

Members of the raiding party included District Attorney Z. B. West, Deputy District Attorney Sam Collins, Investigator Bob Sandon, Deputy Sheriff George Boyd and Fred Humiston, Chief James Bouldin, of Anaheim, and an Anaheim police officer.

Newport Bay Yachting News

By S. H. LUCAS

The fourth race of the elimination series for star boats, was sailed at Newport last Saturday and resulted in a win for the Plumb boys in Westwind. The Websters in Tom Robin made second, while the Talbot boat Moira finished third. The wind was light and from the south which made the second leg to windward. The boats that took the inshore course on the beat, had the better of the going, as a slant from the south was picked up favoring them to the disadvantage of those who had elected to stand out to sea to lee-bow the current on the port tack and have it on their stern on the starboard tack to the mark.

At the start, so many boats were bunched at the windward mark that a flock of five were forced over the line before the gun, and had to return.

Hubbard, Beardslee and several others of the wise ones found themselves at the tail of the procession when they finally got squared away.

Western Star and Moira started a luffing match and headed out for Catalina, and when all had settled down, Noble in Alcione was discovered well in the lead, heading straight for the mark.

It was nip and tuck all through the race; Murphy, in Sirius, having second place on the second slide, but he finished fourth.

In the class B race, Bartholmae in Turtle Star, won the heat with Eddie Fink in Grey Goose second and the Hillman boat, Regulus, third.

Bartholmae made his killing on the second windward leg, when he took the long tack back towards Balboa, and got the slant that put him to the good. He was never headed afterwards.

Owing to several undecided protests in class B the present standings are undetermined.

Sunday Races

The final race of the elimination series was sailed in a light breeze which was fluky and made the guessing good. May Star won the heat and the show place in the series, while Tom Robin placed to clinch the "place" in the final, and West Wind showed, and cashed in on the nose money in the big event of the local season.

The Plumb boys, in West Wind, with two firsts, a second, and two thirds, gave the class show of the season, in winning the right to represent the fleet as challenger at New Orleans this fall. Starting the season with a new and untried boat, he secured second place in the blue fleet with sixth, sixth, second, first, and second; finishing two points behind Hubbard in the gold star boat, Tempe III. In the final series just closed, West Wind won by nine and one-quarter points over the next boat and by 12 1-2 over Tempe III.

Websters Second

Tom and Rob Webster in Tom Robin finished first, fifth, ninth, second and second, winning second place over Coffey by three and one quarter points.

Coffey with sixth, first, fifth, ninth and first made third by 43 1-4 points, a quarter point ahead of Hubbard. Note—the quarter point is given for a win so that if two boats tie, the one who has won a race, is placed ahead.

With a poor start, the Coffey machine started to percolate and, as very little fuel is required to operate his percolator, it was still bubbling lustily at the close, and got the first gun at the finish, closely followed by Tom Robin.

In the class B race, Regulus won followed by Three Star, with Intrepid third. Regulus was a badly beaten boat, finishing the first lap practically last, and as a beaten boat should, split sails with the fleet, and went out to sea, and soon struck a slant from the south which allowed her to make the weather mark without another tack while the rest of the fleet were off in the doldrums, down the coast.

The boats that took a leg out half way down, got the same breeze a little later, while those that had gone farther down, bobbed around without steering way for 20 minutes and were clear out.

NINE ON BOARD SELECTED FOR ORANGE COUNTY

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special To The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 5.—(UP)—Home rule for Orange county is at last in sight.

With the appointment by Governor Young of a committee of nine to study the question of county home rule and recommend laws to carry the idea into effect, complete independence by 1931 is assured for every county in California.

Personnel of the new committee is a question giving Governor Young a good deal of thought. Members may consist of state or county officials or private citizens. One thing is certain, however—they must serve without pay, although the legislative act by Assemblyman Frank Luttrell of Santa Rosa allows them a secretary, and $5,000 for expenses.

Under the law creating this new committee, the members are charged with visiting other states in the country to determine how county home rule is working elsewhere. Experience has taught California, however, that a change is imperative. The present system of requiring the state legislature to fix salaries of county officials, create new clerkships and deputies in county offices, etc., is archaic.

"It's as bad as compelling congress to handle such minor matters as appointing garbage inspectors and city deputies for the city of Washington, D. C.," said one legislator.

"In the past, it has been common practice for the governor to accept recommendations of the county grand jury and the board of supervisors on such matters. However, this may lead to difficulties, it has been found.

One assemblyman who was elected as the result of a factional fight, introduced a bill to take away part of the county officials' salaries. It was later found that these officials had opposed him in the election. Several other county government bills that were not generally approved found their way to the governor's desk, but he promptly pocket vetoed them when he saw what a fuss they had stirred up.

to the junior class called "Douglas Snows." These boats are those put out by Douglas the canoe builder and have proved very fast. As they are all new boats it was decided to race them together as the other divisions were all filled up with about the maximum number that it was possible to race together from a single start, owing to the restricted channel in the bay at low tide.

These races are growing in popularity as more entrants come in, and there is a move on foot by the flag officers of the yachting activities on the coast, to create a major event for this class of boats, and hold a regular regatta every year, with inter-city meets as a feature.

DAY OF CAMELS GONE FOREVER ON THE SAHARA

EL-COLEA, Algeria, Aug. 5.—

The days of the camel as the principal means of travel and transportation over the Sahara desert may be numbered. Today, highways are being formed in the burning sands by incessant tourist travel over which ordinary automobiles are now passing. Plans are also being studied to find a way for replacing the camel caravans.

For the past number of years, six-wheeled automobiles, with huge pneumatic tires, have been blazing trails from oasis to oasis as they carry tourists over the famous Grand Erg circuit. These heavy cars, especially constructed against sand-storms and provided with restaurant service and sleeping accommodations, have beaten tracks in the sands.

These tracks are baked almost as hard as asphalt and form routes for smaller automobiles. The sand-storms, however, continually add obstacles to these routes, some dunes completely effacing sections of them. Nevertheless definite route directions are being established and the large touring companies which operate these automobile lines have already installed four-wheeled cars.

Many tourists, using their own private cars, are now following the trails of the larger conveyances. Care, however, is always taken to stop at an oasis if there appears to be any danger of a sand-storm. The fact that an automobile cannot go without fuel for seven days, the same as a camel can forego water, still remains a strong argument in favor of the animal.

As a result of the ever-growing tourist travel, fuel stations, complete with oil, gasoline and repair supplies, are springing up in the villages and cities along the principal routes. Plans are now being made to increase the number of these stations and to spread them out strategically along the lines which it is hoped will some day become definite highways for automobile travel.

MAJOR league ball clubs, on a conservative estimate, spent more than a million dollars last winter in buying young ball players from the minor leagues.

When Bucky Harris, released as the manager of the Washington American League club, was hired by Detroit as the manager of the club, he was told by Frank Navin, the owner:

"I have spent $250,000 for new players and I will spend more to get a winning ball club."

Clarke Griffith, owner of the Washington club, was criticized when he released Manager Harris. It was generally understood that Harris was getting $30,000 a year and the club owner was charged with the motive of saving money when he let Bucky go to Detroit.

But Griffith countered with the argument that he wasn't trying to save. In fact, that he was spending more than he had spent in years. And he produced the bill of lading for $200,000 worth of rookies.

The immensely wealthy Bradley brothers, when they bought the Cleveland club last year, said that money would be no concern to them. They didn't want to make any money out of their ball club. They wanted to give the city a winning team. And they wanted a championship pennant to hang on the pole in the new $3,000,000 stadium that the city is going to build and in which the Indians are going to play.

Exact figures aren't available but it is estimated that the Cleveland club spent $300,000 for rookie players during the off season.

The Yankees spent at least $100,000 to reinforce a ball club that was thought to be invincible before the Philadelphia Athletics started to go crazy.

The Giants didn't spend a fortune because McGraw has a fairly young team and was satisfied with it. The Cardinals and the Browns had some expenditures for young blood but, because of their farm connections, the transfers probably were a mere matter of bookkeeping.

WHAT has happened to this million dollar crop of rookie players?

The same old names of veterans are creeping up into the top of the batting and hitting averages and the papers are carrying little paragraphs daily telling of some high-priced rookie who has been sent back to the minors.

Two years ago the New York Yankees, building like business men for the future, paid $125,000 to the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League for Lary and Reese, a second base combination that had been recommended as the best in the minor leagues.

The Yankees agreed, to fortify the pennant chances of the Oakland club in their league, that the two players would not have to be delivered for a year.

The two young stars, assured of a future in the major leagues, acted differently. Lary went on and played real ball. Reese loafed. And when the time came for delivery the Yankees said they would take Lary but they didn't want Reese. And that dough was all sunk. The Yanks got one ball player instead of two for $125,000. And then Lary didn't make the grade.

Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, hasn't much faith in young ball players. He wants tried and true veterans and he wasn't disposed kindly to Lary when the expensive rookie reported to the spring training camp in St. Petersburg.

Huggins follows the policy that a young ball player should do a hitch of several years on the bench and listen and look while the old veterans are doing the work.

But the Yankee manager gave Lary a chance and found that he didn't know what to do in a pinch. That is, he didn't show the aptitude that the shrewd Huggins thought he should. And Huggins benched him and put in at shortstop Leo Durocher, a fellow who didn't cost much money but who is perhaps the most colorful player in the major leagues today.

THE prize find of the year, turning to those who have been successful, is Earl Averill, from the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League. And the good luck of the Cleveland club in getting him is almost entirely due to the shrewd judgment of Billy Evans, business manager of the club.

The San Francisco club had a great outfield last year composed of Averill, Roy Johnson and Smead Jolley. Everyone in baseball knew about it. The scouts had been at their duty.

Evans, knowing that the Indians were to play next year in one of the biggest parks in the country, and also, with an eye to publicity, wanted to buy the whole outfield, but the San Francisco owners asked such a stiff price that he couldn't meet it.

Evans then went to California to look them over. "Johnson is the best man of the three," they told him. And Evans agreed that at the moment Johnson was more ripe for the big time. But he reasoned that he was buying a man for the future and that Averill was his man. He bought him for $50,000.

Detroit then stepped in and bought Johnson for $45,000 and Jolley, the third member of the all-star outfield is still on the coast. He can hit but they say he can't field in a big park.

AVERRILL, without a doubt is the greatest rookie of the year. Already in Cleveland they have forgotten to ask the question — "Who's going to play like Speaker used to play for us?"

The kid got a lucky break. In the first game of the season, and the first time he had looked at a ma-

Big Rookie Dale Alexander. . . . Detroit gave Toronto $30,000 for him. . . . Lou Gehrig was just as clumsy when he was a rookie.

joir league pitcher, he hit a home run. And the next day he smacked another one.

In his first 62 games he hit nine homers which was more than the whole Cleveland club hit last year.

He can field like a hawk in the Cleveland park but he didn't look so well on the team's first eastern trip. He didn't know the parks and the shadows and, as Charley Jamieson, the veteran Indian outfielder, told him—"You got to play those parks a lot of times, kid, before you know where to stand for them."

Next to Averill, Dale Alexander, the giant first baseman of the Detroit Tigers, seems to be the most successful rookie of the season.

The Tigers are said to have paid $30,000 to the Toronto club of the International League for him. He is one of the hardest hitters in the American League but he has fielding faults that can be corrected. He's so big he can't help but be awkward.

Lou Gehrig was just as clumsy when he came up to the big leagues and he might still be spiking himself if an umpire hadn't told him what foot to put on the bag. Another unpire has been coaching Alexander.

Prize Rookie Earl Averill. . . . Cleveland paid Frisco $50,000 for him. . . . In his first 62 games this year he poled more homers than all the Indians combined in 1928.

The Tigers also bought Johnny Prudden, a pitcher, from the Toronto club, but he hasn't been a sensation. He may still become a winning pitcher, however.

THE point about young pitchers was discussed last spring at the Yankee training camp by Miller Huggins, manager of the club.

The Yanks had an expensive pitcher, a former college boy, Gordon Rhodes, coming up from the Pacific Coast League.

"How about this fellow Rhodes?" I asked Huggins.

"I don't want to talk about him in particular," Huggins answered, "but I'll talk about minor league pitchers in general and it may take a lot of words."

"It's a lot easier for a young infielder or outfielder to come up without experience and make good than it is for a young pitcher or a young catcher. It takes a lot more experience for a pitcher or a catcher to get by."

"I have heard it said and I have seen it written that I won't give a young ball player a chance. I'll give them a chance until I see them guess wrong about what to do with the ball a couple of times. Pennants can be lost by one game and a fellow who throws to the wrong base or doesn't throw at all may lose that one game and the pennant. You have to learn in baseball as in any other profession of business."

"I think you will find that there are very few pitchers who have jumped in and upset the league in their first year in the majors."

Rhodes already has been farmed out by the Yankees and two other young sensations are assigned for the farms.

Fastest Rookie "Swanee" Swanson. . . . beat the Giants by scoring from first on a sacrifice. . . . Cincinnati got him from the Pacific Coast.

THEY are Johnny Murphy of Fordham and "Bots" Nekola of Holy Cross, the two best college pitchers of the east.

The Yankees also have Ken Strong, the All-America halfback who wants to play the outfield more than anything he knows. But he also will be assigned to the farm.

Murphy, Nekola and Strong were not expensive to the Yankees, however, as they were signed from college on bonuses.

Gehrig, also, cost the Yanks practically nothing and, next to the Babe, is perhaps the best card in baseball. Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, signed him when he was playing with the Columbia University team.

Huggins looked him over and decreed: "To the farm for you."

Gehrig went to New Haven and started knocking down the fences. It was in the same park where Bruce Caldwell, former Yale star and a last year's star, is now splattering the wood. Caldwell has Cleveland strings on him.

And then Gehrig was called back to the Yank Stadium and no more need be said. The records speak for themselves.

Huggins may be right. He is one of the smartest men in baseball and his opinions are weighty. But there may be one young man in the American League who will prove him wrong in his theory that a rookie pitcher can't make good in his first year.

The young man is Ad Liska of the Washington Senators who came up from the American Association.

LISKA isn't way up with the winning pitchers and the reason why he isn't higher up may be found in the records. His team got one run for him in his first three games. And he lost them. He hasn't been given many more runs since then.

American League batters on the other clubs say that he had one of the hardest balls to hit that they have looked at. If he happened to be with a hard-hitting team like the Athletics, the Yanks or the Tigers, he would be a sensation.

Liska throws with an underhand delivery much like Carl Mays but he doesn't stoop as low and the batters say he hides the ball better.

Smart baseball men associated with the American League are almost one in the opinion that he will be one of the league's greatest pitchers even if he finishes way down on the list this year.

The Cincinnati Reds, badly in need of replacements, picked up one of the prizes of the season in "Swanee" Swanson, a young outfielder from the Mission club of the Pacific Coast League. He is said to be the fastest man in baseball. Just recently he beat the Giants by scoring the winning run from first base on a sacrifice.

The heaviest load of the season was that placed upon Charley Gelbert, the rookie shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals. The club owners fired all their other shortstops and, calling him in from their Rochester farm, told him he had to handle the job. And he has been handling it ever since.

Among the other successful buys of the season were Seibold of the Boston Braves, Narlesky of the Red Sox, Luther Roy, Philly pitcher; Sam Byrd, Yankee outfielder; Roy Johnson, Detroit outfielder; Dudley, Brooklyn pitcher, and Wuestling, Detroit shortstop.

Detroit spent a lot of money for Heinie Schuble, who was expected to be the regular shortstop after Jackie Tavener had been traded to the Cleveland Indians. He failed to make good, however, and Rookie Wuestling was bought from Portland for $25,000.

Two Rescued From Ocean At Seal Beach Sunday

WOMAN, 81, IS NEAR VICTIM OF BIG WAVES

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Myrtle Wicks, 81, residing with her daughter, Mrs. E. P. Darling, 538 West 56th street, Los Angeles, who joined a crowd of young people in surf swimming at the Seal Beach ocean front at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, was upset by a big white-capped breaker, buffeted in the rushing surf, and finally rescued by Chief Johnson and the Seal Beach police life saving squad, who used an inhalator.

Mrs. Wicks, after being assisted from the water, suffered from nervous shock and although partially revived and taken to a nearby home, she suffered repeated fainting spells. The Seal Beach police applied the inhalator and used their new first aid kit with its patent chemically heated hot water bottles. Mrs. Wicks later in the afternoon was taken to her Los Angeles home.

She is the oldest swimmer ever venturing in the Pacific to have treatment by an inhalator to save her life, or bring back normal breathing after partial drowning. Her chilled body was restored to normal temperature through the continued application of the chemical heat bottles, newest equipment of Chief of Police Johnson's first aid squad.

A young woman whose name was not learned was dragged from the ocean at Seal Beach in a near drowning condition by swimmers at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Seal Beach city police life saving squad was summoned and made a run to the scene with the inhalator, but the young woman had been revived by first aid treatment by persons at the scene. After a few minutes rest she was taken charge of by friends apparently none the worse from the ordeal.

FELLOW COUNTRYMEN

PARIS, Aug. 5.—Why go to Paris to get "stung" by divorce lawyers? Many Americans who come here to have matrimonial bonds severed are falling prey to American lawyers and paying three or four times what they should. Only recently a Paris court ordered W. H. Pauling-Emerich to return $1250 to Mrs. Marjorie Corn, a client, claiming that the fee should be only $500.

Ole Hanson, founder and builder of this city, through Virgil Westbrook, announced that the San Clemente Beach club and the pool are available to Legionnaires on their way to and from the state convention.

PROGRESS IS MADE ON HIGH SCHOOL BLOCK

TUSTIN, Aug. 5.—Work is progressing rapidly on the new addition to the Tustin union high school. The new $30,000 structure consists of a new home economics department, including sewing and cooking rooms and a private office for the instructor, teachers' dining room, new woodshop room, mechanical drawing room, blue print room and painting room.

The interior plastering was finished last week, and the art stone finish on the outside of the building was expected to be completed today. The interior woodwork will be put in next week, and new machinery for the woodshop is now being purchased.

The new building also includes an outdoor hot dog stand, where quick lunches will be served, replacing the old "snack" of last year. The stage is being enlarged to accommodate outdoor programs, and the old home economics rooms are being remodeled into an English department.

FULLERTON, Aug. 5.—Wilmer N. Long and Miss Delma Lynch were married Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Lehmer, of Alhambra, who are cousins of the groom.

Long is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. O. V. Long, of 508 West Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lynch, of West Wilshire avenue, Fullerton.

The impressive ceremony was performed by the groom's father, the Rev. Mr. Long, formerly pastor of the First Church of the Brethren of this city, and who is now minister of the Glendora church.

The only witnesses of the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Lehmer. The bride was beautiful in an orchid gown and carried a huge bouquet of red roses and sweet peas. The newly married couple left on a honeymoon to Lake Tahoe and the High Sierras and plan to visit the brother of the groom, who is proprietor of a garage at Selma.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Long are graduates of the Fullerton union high school and Long is a graduate of the Fullerton junior college class of 1927.

H. B. AUTO CAMP VISITORS FROM ALL PARTS OF SOUTH

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 5.—"How did they get this way," or with the slang omitted, where do the tourists come from that throng the Pacific beaches during the hot summer season.

With 537 autos camped at the Seabreeze auto park on the coast at Huntington Beach, a Register correspondent undertook to get some information as to where the representative crowd of visitors came from. The check showed that during the period from July 1 to August 1, 46 per cent of the cars were from Redlands and San Bernardino, 14 per cent from San Dimas and La Verne, 18 per cent from Pasadena, Alhambra, Monterey

Park and that vicinity, two per cent from Barstow, Needles and the desert country. About 10 per cent were from Los Angeles and 10 per cent were tourists from outside the state.

Some five per cent were in camp for the summer, 10 per cent were at the beach for a stay of two weeks to a month, 10 per cent were planning to stay a week and 40 per cent were here for the week end, while 35 per cent were overnight visitors and five per cent were what the auto camps call "automobile gypsies," or people who are constantly moving by auto from place to place, sightseeing and looking for a permanent location.

200 PALM TREES ON STATE ROAD DOOMED TO FALL

ANAHEIM, Aug. 5.—In a short time the two big rows of palms which line the highway between Anaheim and Santa Ana will be but a pleasant memory. The fan-like leaves which have unfolded one by one for nearly half a century will be ashes, and the trunks of the great trees will crash to the ground in the path of progress which demands a wider road for constantly increasing traffic.

According to old residents these Canary island palms have stood in their present positions for nearly 60 years and many of the date palms, which form a part of the rows, are equally as old.

Over 200 palms along this road will be cut in conjunction with the widening of the state highway, it is said.

It has been necessary to cut a number of other trees, including possibly about 300 or 400 walnut trees averaging 25 years each. On the Luke Smith place near Santa Ana 30 walnut trees were taken out. The large eucalyptus tree on the Smith place escaped destruction by a narrow margin, being just inside the line.

When you read The Register you get the best service on local, county, state and national sports, the field being entirely covered by competent writers and well-trained staff correspondents.

By Billy Evans, Henry L. Farrell, Frank Getty, Robert Edgren, George Kirksey and Davis J. Walsh are just a few of the sports experts who contribute regularly to The Register.

GOOD TO HIS FRIENDS

One of our leading sportsmen, who has had considerable experience with rackets, spent his vacation in Canada. In two weeks he had all he cared for but he wanted to bring some back for his friends.

He asked the clerk in one of the stores how chances were of getting stuff across the border and the clerk told him chances were swell. He told him that at a certain hour the customs men let cars through who had the signal. He gave him the signal and showed him where to hide the stuff and our noble sportsman bought two gallons.

SIGNAL DIDN'T WORK

He approached the border with a light heart when he saw several cars get through after only a casual examination. When he got to the line he gave the signal and was stopped and searched thoroughly. The liquor of course was found.

"That will cost you 50 bucks unless you want us to take you in and get you a bigger rap," he was told.

He shelled out 50 bucks and was getting ready to let out the clutch when the guardians of the law reached in and took his two gallons.

THIS IS CO-OPERATION

When he reached a city across the line he went with his tears to a bootlegger friend and told him his sad story. The bootlegger asked him where he bought the stuff and he told him.

"You're a smart guy. Yes, you are! You oughta know that that place was a squal joint," the bootlegger told him. "Those clerks in there take the number of your car and tip them off on the border and they get a split of the take and then sell the booze to us."

THE WISEST ARE SUCKERS

Several years ago another one, wise to the ways of the world and the underworld, was taken in St. Louis. He was a manager of a champion fighter and he took his boy to St. Louis for a match.

His boy had been in the big dough and so had he but he was loose with his change and could always use cash.

He was approached in his hotel in St. Louis by a couple of hustlers he knew and trusted.

A CHANCE FOR A CLEAN UP

They told him they had just succeeded in getting a big supply of dope and that they couldn't handle it all. The feds were watching them, they said, and they didn't dare take any of it out themselves.

"They'll never suspect you and you can take a load out," they told him. "You can make 300 per cent on your investment."

They told him also where and how he could dispose of the cargo and he bought one grand worth of the stuff and packed the jars in his trunk according to instructions.

NO DOUGH FOR THAT STUFF

He found the purchasers that were referred to him in New York. They were expecting him. He turned over his cargo and sat back waiting for his dough.

His customers gave the snow the analysis and came back into the room.

"We can't handle that stuff," they said. "You'd better take it to some drug store. It's Epsom salts you bought."

SCHMELING MAY MEET HEENEY FIRST Field Of 161 Versus Jones At Del Monte

AMATEURS SET FOR NATIONAL MEET SEPT. 3

By CARL MORITZ
Pacific Coast News Service Staff Correspondent

DEL MONTE, Aug. 5.—The official national amateur golf championship roster showed today that 161 athletes of pure standing will gather here September 2 bent on flattening the Tree of one Robert Jones.

It's that way in golf tournaments nowadays—the field against Bobby. There ain't no justice.

But confederates, shed not a Tyne (one may take the same liberty with Bobby's middle moniker as with either and neither) because the young tournament tyrant from Dixieland has conclusively demonstrated he is in a fair way to hoist the "bonnie blue flag" over anybody's country club.

If the young barrister from Atlanta wins the national open and national amateur titles many more times, a new class will have to be created for him.

They will have to make him amafessional champion of all time and tell him to run his own tournament.

There are 161 optimists, however, who aspire to the crown Bobby has worn four times.

Seventy entries who will whack the pellet around the Pebble Beach course of the Del Monte Golf and Country club hail from the Pacific coast. Of these 77 are from California, nine from Oregon and four from Washington.

The east will contribute 34 players, the middle west 25, the southwest 16, the south six and the Rocky mountain region three.

Adding a cosmopolitan dash to the tourney will be five golfers from Great Britain, headed by their champion, Cyril Tolley; Canada has three and Hawaii one.

EXPECT U. S. C. TO HAVE COAST WONDER TEAM

BY RONALD W. WAGONER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—A powerful football team—equal to that which won the unofficial national title last year under the Dickinson scoring system—is in the offing at the University of Southern California.

Despite the loss of five outstanding regulars of the 1928 eleven only the most pessimistic of the Trojan followers can see anything but a brilliant season in store for Coach Howard Jones.

To produce a team equal to that which beat Stanford 10 to 0 and tied with California for the Pacific Coast title, Jones must develop men to replace Captain Jesse Hibbs, All-American tackle for two years; Lowry McCaslan, end; Charles Boren, guard; Don Williams, quarterback; and Lloyd Thomas, halfback whom Jones called the most dependable player he had coached in 16 years.

Only two linkings of Jones' plans have made pre-season appearances. He intends to shift Captain Nate Barrager from the center post to guard position, and place Russ Saunders, hard-running halfback at quarterback.

Although there is a chance that this maneuver may fall through, it is not regarded probable as Jones figures Barrager will prove valuable in leading the Trojan running attack while Saunders will prove a dangerous, triple-threat field general.

One of the bright spots in the line may fall to George Dye, a 236-pounder, a guard and center who transferred to U. S. C. from Alabama. Dye weathered a summer collision with an automobile and doctors say his injuries will not handicap him. He was star of the "goofs" in scrimmage last fall.

Other line and end men ready for service are Francis Tappan, two-letter end; Frank Anthony, right tackle; Clark Holloway, veteran guard; Cecil Hoff, tackle; Bob Hall, 216-pound lineman on the 1928 frosh; Tony Stepenovich, end, and Ralph Wilcox, who alternated on the wing jobs last year.

Harry Edelson and Marge Aspit are veteran backfield men certain of action, as is Don Moses, leading prospect for fullback after being basen from school for a year. Moses' chief rival is young Jim Musick, who came from the frosh. Both weigh more than 200 pounds.

The Trojans meet Stanford at Palo Alto on October 26, and the next Saturday play California in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Knut Rockne's Notre Dame team is scheduled to wipe out memories of a 27 to 14 defeat last fall.

Carnegie Tech, an outstanding eastern eleven will close the Trojan season in Los Angeles on December 14.

MIRACLES OF SPORT - - - BY ROBERT EDGREN

IN THE LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE FIGHT BETWEEN CHAMPION AD. WOLGAST AND JOE RIVERS BOTH LANDED BODY BLOWS AT THE SAME INSTANT, BOTH WENT DOWN. BOTH STAYED DOWN. THE REFEREE PICKED WOLGAST UP AND COUNTED RIVERS OUT! WHICH WAS TOUGH LUCK FOR RIVERS. IT MIGHT AS WELL HAVE BEEN THE OTHER WAY!

Youths Defeat Old Timers At Seabright Meet

SEABRIGHT, N. J., Aug. 5.—Youth has another victory over age to its credit today.

For that youthful couple, Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., and Gregory Mangin of New Jersey, swept to a victory in the doubles finals of the Seabright invitation tennis tournament, defeating the veteran Davis cup pair, Richard N. Williams and Watson Washburn.

The score was 9-5, 7-5, -6, 6-3.

TIERNANS NEAR NIGHT LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP

Club

	W.	L.	Pct.
*Tiernans	2	0	.100
Kinslows	2	1	.667
Hawleys	2	1	.667
*Ice Company	1	1	.667
Barr Lumber	1	2	.333
El Corral	0	3	.000

*Postponed game to play.

Going into the next-to-last week of play the City Night league race for first place favored the Tiernans Typewriter team, following its overwhelming defeat of the Kinslows machinists last week, and little stands in the way of the Tiernans winning the second half of the split season as they did in the first.

Both Kinslows and Hawleys have an outside chance to win, even yet, but dopsters make this prediction with a smile.

The week sees Tiernans play Barr Lumber company Tuesday night; Kinslows vs. Hawley Wednesday night, and Santa Ana Ice company against El Corral on Thursday night.

WOOD WINS SINGLES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—(UP)—Sidney B. Wood, young Pasadena tennis star took the men's singles championship in the Los Angeles county tournament from Jack De Lara in a grueling match ending 2-6, 13-11, 6-4. Yesterday De Lara, University of Southern California star, neared victory and then lost it when he had Wood 6-2, 11-10 and 40-love on his own service, only to lose the game, set, and match as wood's endurance and brilliant placements took the last round.

DILLARD SAYS HIS BOXERS TO SURPRISE FANS

"Santa Ana boxing fans are going to see five of the sweetest box-fighters ever to perform at the Orange County arena, when I trot out Montoya, Cobb, Sharkey, Carr and Rodriguez, tomorrow night," stated Dick Dillard, the San Diego boxing manager in a telephone communication with Matchmaker Henry Foust today "and not only that they are going to watch five winners!" concluded Dillard.

All of which goes to show you just how much Mons. Dick Dillard, San Diego's foremost dealer in cauliflower-ears, thinks of his fighters and to what extent Dillard will go to impress you beforehand as to the class of his scrappers. Dillard in making his bold assertion is banking his reputation, which is of high regard among Southern promoters, on his five fighters.

Nobody can deny that Raymon Montoya, the bantamweight pride of Dillard's menage, is one of the best 115-pounders on the Pacific Slope and can give a good account of himself in any ring against any kind of opposition. Tomorrow night Raymon takes on the young and coming Filipino, Jess Gabuco ought to turn in one of the fastest and most sensational fights between little fellows ever staged in this section.

Montoya is a known 'club' fighter—one who tosses leather from the opening until the final bell and Filipino lad packs one of the most potent right hand wallop in the bantam division. Gabuco demonstrated his punching prowess when he knocked Moreira for a loop in one heat. Montoya established himself when he fought a slashing draw with the Italian champion, Kid Francis while the latter was campaigning among the Coast topnotchers last year.

The principals completed training today for the bout and according to reports from their respective training camps, predict a decisive victory.

While practically all the ballyhoo centers upon the clash between Montoya and Gabuco, no little interest centers in the preliminary bout—probably the most attractive bill Matchmaker Foust has ever presented.

The six round semi-windup between Jesse Ayala, Anaheim Mexican welterweight and Charlie Cobb ought to be a wild affair. Ayala is strictly a slugger while Cobb knows his boxing and can punch. Charlie boasts a kayo win over Jimmy Lundy, the Montana scrapper who has been headlining Wilmington fight cards.

Young Jack Sharkey and Wildman Macias go six rounds in the special. Three fours complete the program.

Dempsey, Carp Oppose Again In New Picture

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 5.—Jack Dempsey is coming back to the movies again. And the one time Manassa Mauler is going to appear on the silver sheet with a former ring enemy, Georges Carpentier.

A few years ago Jack was paid a lot of money to step around the squared circle for four rounds with Carpentier. Now the former heavyweight champ is to receive a nice piece of change for acting as master of ceremonies in an act he and Carpentier will do in "The Show of Shows" for Warner Brothers.

Indians Get 9 Scores In 9th To Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Those Yankees refuse to disappoint the customers.

Having reached the stage where they can hardly be called contenders for the pennant, Miller Huggins' henchmen have resorted to other and more vulgar means than contending for holding the boys and girls in their seats.

Witness yesterday, after having bored some 55,000 trusting souls by kicking the Cleveland 12 to 0 in the opener the Yanks went into the ninth of the second game leading 6 to 5. Two Indians were put away. Here Miller's boys noticed some of the faithfuls sneaking toward the exits so they proceeded to land over the handle-bars, and start coasting. Before they reached the bottom of the hill the Indians had scored some nine runs and earned themselves an even break.

The fight will take place either in New York city or Detroit.

The New York state athletic commission will be asked today to approve Tom Henney, Tunney's last opponent, as a suitable opponent for Schmeling at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 4. If the commission agrees, and Schmeling defeats the New Zealander, the German will box Sharkey at Yankee stadium on September 26.

William Muldoon, dean of the New York commission, is on record as ready to insist upon Tommy Loughran, present light heavyweight champion, as Schmeling's next opponent provided the present arrangements to avoid Phil Scott, British heavyweight, are carried through. In case Muldoon persuades the commission to substitute Loughran for Scott, whom Schmeling refuses to meet, the German's handlers will decline the match.

HAWAII TO SEE WOMEN'S SWIM MARKS TESTED

By REUEL S. MOORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 5.—Several women's swimming records will be in jeopardy next week when the women's national outdoor swimming and diving championships are held here.

A long list of new prospects has been entered in competition with the nine champions who are expected to be here to defend their titles.

Invitations have been extended to several Australian and Japanese champions, who will give the meet an international flavor. It is understood that several Japanese stars, picked by elimination, will be present representing the best talent in Japan, and the possibility exists that one or more of the titles may go abroad.

A four-day program has been scheduled, from August 7 to 11. The champions who are expected to attend are: Eleanor Garratti, San Rafael, Calif., 100 meters; Martha Norellus, New York Women's Swimming association, 440-yard and 880-yard; Josephine McKim, Homestead, Pa., one mile; List Lindstrom, New York W. S. A., 220-yard back stroke; Eleanor Holm, New York W. S. A., 300-yard medley relay; Agnes Garaghty, New York W. S. A., 220-yard breast stroke; Ethel McGary, New York W. S. A., member of the relay team; Lillian Ferguson, Alameda, Calif., fancy diving, 10-foot springboard.

Helen Meany, New York W. S. A., fancy diving, high platform. The champion relay team is composed of Martha Norellus, Lisa Lindstrom, Eleanor Holm and Ethel McGary.

Championships will be held in the events named above.

Other stars who are planning to enter and seek the various titles include:

Georgia Coleman, 16-year-old diving star of the Los Angeles A. C., who holds the 10-foot board indoor diving champions. She won second place in the platform diving at the Olympics.

Dorothy Joynton, Pasadena Country and Athletic club, who is only 13. She is the Pacific coast champion on the low board.

Katherine Brown, New York W. S. A., fancy diving title holder in a number of New York meets.

Caroline Smith, member of the 1924 Olympic team, diving expert. Rose Bozcek, Cincinnati, Ohio, diving title holder for the Western association.

Mary White, platform diving star, New York W. S. A. Lilly Bowmer May, Hawaiian island champion, in several swimming events, who recently came close to the world's mark in the 440-yard race.

The meet will be held in the War Memorial Natatorium, where the men's national championships were held in 1927.

ARTISTS' CITY SOON TO RISE OUTSIDE PARIS

By N. REYNOLDS PACKARD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The poor artists of Paris who have been driven out of their haunts in Montmartre and Montparnasse by rich American tourists are soon to have a Bohemia all to themselves.

The municipality of Paris has just announced that it is preparing to build an artists' city composed only of studios for painters and sculptors. The site of this colony is to be at Boulogne-sur-Seine, on the outskirts of the city, far from the emporiums of night life.

Impoverished painters, who have not even been able to buy mineral water these days in the cafes which their presence a few years ago made famous, will now be able to live with modern comforts. They will have the same conveniences as less artistic but wealthier people who are living in the most expensive apartment houses.

According to the city's plans an artist for 5000 francs (about $200) a year can rent in this colony a roomy structure with a studio, two bedrooms, a kitchenette and a tiled bath. This last luxury may prove too much for the Bohemians who have been accustomed these last years of poverty to a cheap pitcher or bucket to bathe in, bit by bit.

This project, which only awaits official sanction of the ministry of labor, is expected to bring together the scattered artists of Paris. Little by little they were forced to leave their studios in Montmartre and Montparnasse as the rents increased. The strange little places in which they lived and the quaint bars which they frequented soon drew hordes of tourists to them. Housing rents increased and drinks jumped in price.

Thus the sculptors and painters picked up their clay and brushes and went to cheaper quarters. Some went to the Porte d'Orleans along the Riviera and some went to work. Many seemed to have disappeared entirely and Bohemia thus came to its end.

The city of Paris then decided to come to the aid of the homeless artist through the Loucheur housing law, by constructing studios with low rents at Boulogne-sur-Seine. The artists may again come together from their exile, but there are those who think otherwise. They argue that bathtubs and creative inspiration do not go together and that the artist may flee from such quarters de luxe.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—(UP)—The Arlington park race track showed a profit of $300,000 for the 29 days of racing just closed there. It was announced today by the American National Jockey club. The amount was said to be the largest ever earned by any track in a similar length of time.

WHAT COULD SHE DO?
PARIS, Aug. 5.—The love of Cecile Sorel, Paris actress, for babies, cost her a verdict in court here. She charged a man with stealing jewelry from her apartment valued at more than $15,000. When she was leaving court she passed a woman with a baby and stooped down and kissed the child. She found that the child was that of the accused man. She withdrew the charges against the child's father.

MUSICAL EXPOSE IS PLAN OF JAMBOREE

From 8 to 10 p. m., KHJ will broadcast the "Blue Monday Jamboree" coming from KFRC, the Don Lee station in San Francisco. This week the Jamboree artists will prove to fans who are listening in that they do like classical music, even if they think they don't. In other words, they are going to show that many of the greatest hits in popular music have had their foundation in the greatest classics. This will be called a "Musical Exposé" and is only one of the many features that will make this two hours of entertainment well worth listening to.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

REV. OWINGS UPHOLDS BACK SEAT DRIVING

Opening the five weeks' union services, sponsored by the Ministerial association of this city, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church in Santa Ana, who preached the opening sermon at the union church services in Birch park, last night. A series of park worship hours is being sponsored by the Ministerial association of this city.

UNION PREACHER

'WHAT THINK YE OF CHRIST' IS SERMON TOPIC

"What think ye of Christ?" This question was the topic for the sermon delivered in the First Christian church at 7:30 p.m. last night by the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, pastor, who gave the first address at the overflow meeting of the union services given under the auspices of the Ministerial association.

"This is the greatest question that heaven has ever propounded," he declared, "and its answer the most important that will ever come from the heart of human beings."

In developing his argumentative theme, the minister proved that Christ is divine because of his pre-existence and that He was the "Son of God and not the son of Joseph."

He traced His genealogy through Matthew and Luke and answered the question, "Was Christ a natural product of His day?"

Not a natural product of His day and generation. If He were only a natural man of a natural generation, why not others like Him, before or since? Why not you or I like Him? We have many things in our favor. Such men as Galileo, Kepler, Bacon, Newton, Milton and Gladstone set the name of Christ above all others."

Telling how Jesus was intellectually divine, the Rev. Mr. Buchanan said: "Take the best out of philosophy, science, art, music, literature, politics, religion and nowhere do we find a mind that equals the mind of Christ. In three years He changed the whole current of human history."

That Christ came to set up His kingdom among men, the purpose of His life, proved His deity, according to the minister, and the "fruits of Christianity attest His deity."

Men Are Selfish "But why a kingdom? What need for it? There was and is a disarrangement in human affairs, despite their learning and their philosophy, their art and their wealth, men hate one another, men are selfish, men are cruel and dishonest. Why all of this hating and abusing and selfishness among men? The question can be answered in one word. SIN. Sin is at the bottom of it all. At the bottom of all selfishness, all misunderstanding, all sorrow and all suffering."

"So Christ says: I am here to set up a kingdom. I want the world to know the love of God. And when men know the Father's love they will no longer be dishonest, they will no longer be selfish; they will allow love instead of sin to rule their living. Love shall be the law of my kingdom." Was he right? Men and women do not want charity—they want love. It is easy to give money, and easy to give largely if you are rich, but the thing the millions want and always have wanted is love.

"You may ask, What right has Christ to interfere with our plans? We answer, Because He loves you. He saw you in sin, and loving you, He came and offered his life in His death that you might be saved."

FRUIT CUP Chilled fruit cup is twice as appealing if served in colored crystal dishes. Salads also take on character when colored crystal plates are used.

NONE WITHOUT SIN, DECLARES RECTOR HATTER

"Paul always said just what he meant and knew what he was talking about and the things he said are just as true of us in this day and generation as they were in the day he penned his epistle to the Romans," said the Rev. W. J. Hatter yesterday morning as he quoted from Romans 6:19, taking "Yielding" for the topic of his address.

"As to how you manage to do evil no one knows better than yourself. No one is without sin. There are a few who have been sanctified but all have sinned and know how they yielded. Just as you know how you yielded to evil so you know how to yield to righteousness, the opposite of evil. Visualize the evil you did today, yesterday, what you may do tomorrow. We yield something. We yield to think, to look, to listen. We yield our feet to walk in evil ways. We lend ourselves to the society of evil. In every case we must yield first. You do or you do not, as the case may be."

"If you have yielded to evil in the past so yield your members servants to righteousness. It means a retracing of your steps. We must make the yielding just as complete to righteousness as to evil. Just as you give way to wrong so must you give way to right. There is no comparison between service for evil and for right. Think of the risks men take in the making of money. Those who speculate every day in the markets of the world. When the speculations go wrong they lose. But today we take no risks in religion. There are no risks in righteousness today as there were in the history of the world centuries ago. People do not take risks for heaven. When adversity and loss comes they lose heart they yield."

"There is no comparison as to what men do to secure power, to attain position and what they do for religion. For the one they will risk everything. In the fight for place. Are they willing to do this for their religion?" "Think of the risks for evil that men and women are taking today. They will risk this day the chance of going to the hospital, shattered health, their home, their respectability. But ask them to do what is good for them or work for a good cause. They are sorry, they have no time. If they worked as hard as that they would break down. Besides it would interfere with my business. I cannot afford to do that. But at the plea of the service clubs they will sometimes work for a good cause. It brings in the shekels. When a man tells you 'I'd like to do that but—' What's the use of wasting time with him. He is not yielding to a good cause."

SPEED OCEAN MAIL NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—An attachment placed on the Leviathan will speed up ocean mail delivery to such an extent that letters will be delivered in three days. The attachment will enable planes to snatch the mail off the ship 600 miles out at sea and speed in to shore with it.

TWO-FISTED ATTACK BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Martin Berger, movie manager, will have no more tiffs with the popular film actress, Maria Corda. In an argument, Maria unleashed a two-fisted attack which ended in the defeat of Martin. Martin, his pride bruised, went into court about it. He asked $25,000 damages.

OLD GRUDGE SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5.—When women fight they hold a grudge for a long time. Miss Florence Ezekiel recently renewed her suit for $20,000 against Lorena Converse for injuries she charged the latter had inflicted on her in a fist fight. The fight was staged two years ago.

'Greater Works Than Those Shall Ye Do' Is Subject

The Rev. C. D. Hicks, of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, preached yesterday morning on the text, "Greater Works Than These Shall Ye Do."

He said in part: "This text has given many people a great deal of trouble and has led many people, through a wrong interpretation, into wild fire. Some people seem to think this refers to the spectacular miracles which Christ wrought while on earth and therefore believe there should be more miracles and greater wrought by His followers than by Christ, Himself. "Christ had just broken the news to His disciples that He was not to be with them but a short time and they were sad and discouraged. The work of spreading the Gospel seemed to them, if He were to leave, an impossible task; and, too, they would be lonely without Him. He thus proceeds to comfort them and in His effort to comfort, He assures them of the continued work that He would do through them when He had gone, assuring beyond a doubt that the work of the Gospel would not only continue, but that it would increase in power and effectiveness."

"The healing of the body and the saving of the soul has the same relation that the saving of a man's life has to the saving of his house. If a house is on fire and at the same time the bleeding and mangled form of the owner of the house is lying dying, no one would doubt the wisdom of letting the house burn and devote their time in saving the life of the man who owns the house. The wrong estimate of the soul in this respect has led to much misunderstanding."

COMMANDER'S DEMAND IS MET IN FUNDS CUT

A demand by National Commander William J. Murphy, of the Disabled American Veterans, that there be no reduction in the funds provided for the National Guard, the reserve corps and the C. M. T. C., in connection with President Hoover's plans for cutting military appropriations, has been met by the war department's promise that there will be no interference with the training of these classes of non-professional soldiers.

Two weeks ago it was announced at the White House that there would be pressure to reduce the cost of the military establishment and the cuts would be in the hands of a committee selected from the general staff. Last Sunday's papers carried across the country the demand of Commander Murphy that the militia, reservists and youngsters' camps be left undisturbed. The middle of this week Secretary Good, after conference with his assistants, gave public announcement that what reductions are made must come from other sections of the department.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—Prof. Herman Oberth has something new in the rocket propulsion racket and this time it is hydrogen gas. As yet he hasn't tried out his theories, but so convinced is the Astronomical Society of France that he has been awarded its Rep-Hirsch prize for astronomers. The German scientist claims his rocket, when constructed, will transport persons to the moon.

SUCCESS RULES ARE OUTLINED TO BIBLE CLASS

"The Fundamentals of Success" was the subject chosen by the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan for his talk to members of the Men's Community Bible class, yesterday morning in the Fox Walker theater. The class teacher was given a warm welcome on his return after a month's absence caused by illness.

The key to the secret of success lies in the words of Jesus: "Whatsoever ye would that men do unto you, do ye unto them"—according to the Rev. Mr. Buchanan, who is pastor of the First Christian church. Several other fundamentals of success that were regarded as greatly important in the lesson were honesty, faith, integrity and co-operation.

"When we speak of success let it include our personal and home life as well as business life," the Rev. Mr. Buchanan urged. "It cannot stand alone on any one of the three and mean anything. Honesty is one of the first fundamentals of success. We must be honest with God and with ourselves. It is honesty that creates confidence in our fellows and our government. No business man has the right to be dishonest," he asserted.

"Faith also is needed. Without that what would become of such gigantic undertakings as the Boulder dam project and the Panama canal? They are great works of faith. Then there must be integrity and an expression of the desire to do something worth while for self and others. Finally there must be co-operation. With these we can force ahead in this class radiating the spirit of Jesus and building a manhood that will build a city of Christ."

Music for the service yesterday morning was furnished by Mrs. E. H. Elsener, who sang "Winds of the South" and "End of the Day." She was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Melba Elsener, organist in the First Baptist church in Fullerton. Ingham's orchestra played several numbers.

Christian Science

Paul's prayer for the Thessalonians, "The Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patient waiting for Christ," constituted the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Love," Sunday in all Christian Science churches branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the Scriptural citations in the Lesson-Sermon were these verses from the first epistle of John: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God: for God is love. . . . And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

Mrs. Eddy's approbation of John's definition of God was indicated in a correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "God is Love." More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go."

Tells Necessity Of Bloodshed In Teaching Religion

Taking for the subject of his sermon, "The Bible and the Blood," Dr. George A. Warner, of the First Methodist Episcopal church, spoke yesterday concerning the necessity of individual giving of life and sharing of spiritual knowledge.

Dr. Warner used as illustrations of his Biblical text, "Without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins," the case of David Livingstone, who was inspired by the example of Robert Moffatt to do so great a work of Christianization. He spoke also of Bishop Bashford, one of the greatest of Methodist ministers, stating that it is the individual's duty to try and give spiritual life to those with whom he comes into contact, and speaking of the beauty and sacredness of spiritual communion. He closed his sermon by declaring that "Without the giving of life, there is no remission of sins."

Announcement was made to the effect that there will be a meeting of the church board tonight.

FRIENDSHIP IS TOPIC OF TALK TO NAZARENES

Prof. Hugh Benner, of Pasadena, took charge of both services yesterday in the First Church of the Nazarene in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. U. E. Harding, who is preaching at the northern district camp meeting in Santa Rosa. His text for the evening was taken from Luke, "Behold a friend of the publicans and sinners."

These words are taken from a statement of Jesus, answering an accusation made by the Pharisees, as they tried to fix the blame on Jesus in their war between the Hebrews and the Romans and complained bitterly that He was glutinous in that He ate with the publicans and sinners, and desecrated the Sabbath by healing of the withered hand.

"In all these things," Benner said, "Jesus proved by a single statement that He was only doing His Father's will, but never tried to deny that He was a friend of the publicans and sinners, as that was who He came to seek and to save. The self-righteous of the Pharisees, prevented them from seeing the real worth of the Master, and there is only record of one Pharisee being brought to Christ and that was by knocking him from his horse on the road to Damascus, but what a soul winner he proved to be."

"Jesus answered these accusations of the Pharisees by telling the parables of the 'Lost Sheep' and the 'Lost Coin' and the 'Prodigal Son.'" Professor Benner illustrated these parables by telling how even though the 99 sheep were safe in the fold, yet the Lord went to seek the one lost; and in the same manner the lost coin, which when found meant so much to the Master; and the lost Son, and how the Pharisee brother who stayed envied the lost one, when the fattest calf was killed when the lost came home.

Paterson, of 523 East Chestnut street, who had been making an extended motor trip in the north with his wife and a brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Paterson. Dr. F. H. Chicagoans Are Honored At Delightful Affair

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Higdon of Chicago, Ill., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Seaver and their daughter, Mrs. Claudine Irvine, of Anaheim, were complimented Saturday night at an attractive bridge supper given by Mrs. Irvine.

After guests had assembled in the home which was lovely with roses in delicate pastel tints, Mr. and Mrs. Higdon, both of whom are unusually clever impersonators, presented several clever skits.

Places were found at the card tables through the use of unique little tallies that harmonized with other appointments for the affair. When scores were added, Mrs. Clyde Jenkin and Mr. Higdon were found to be high with Mrs. Benny Osterman and C. M. McClinchlow. They received appropriate gifts.

At the supper hour, Mrs. Irvine was assisted in serving the delectable two course menu by Mrs. Frank Arlin.

Those who were present were Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. and Mr. Higdon, Mr. and Mrs. Seaver, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. McClinchlow, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jenkin, Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arlin, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Johnson, and Paul Gilbert.

Surprise Shower and Card Party Given Saturday Night

A delightfully planned surprise shower was given Saturday night in honor of Eugene Haid and his bride-to-be, Miss Eleanor Pearce of Costa Mesa, by Mr. Haid's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Haid of 2220 North Main street.

In decorating for the affair with the pretty garden motif that had been chosen, Mrs. Haid was assisted by Miss Louise Pearce, sister of Miss Eleanor. Miss Pearce also assisted in various of the pleasant hostess duties throughout the evening.

Gay butterfly tallies were distributed for the five hundred games and when scores were added at a late hour it was found that Mrs. Dean Wallace and Lawrence Barnett were high. Each one was presented with a handsome prize while an equally pretty gift consoled Miss George Johnston.

Summer flowers in pastel tints were used to center the tables for the supper hour after which many gifts for the new home of the young couple were presented them.

Those present included the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Haid, Miss Eleanor Pearce and Eugene Haid, Miss Louise Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Wright, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blakeley, Gerald Blakeley, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Reinhaus, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wood, Mrs. Anna Stillwell, Miss Elizabeth Skiles, Miss Charlotte Skiles, Mr. and Mrs. William Potts, Mrs. Sarah Pearce, Mrs. Mary Marsh, Loren Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vandenberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Douglas, Miss Opha Coulson, Miss Marie Rash, Miss Helen Dallas, Miss Dorothy Van Durn, Miss Gladys Newman, Miss Ruth Newman, Fred Kelley, George Butler, Mrs. Fred Watkins, Miss George Johnston, Mrs. Marian Burdette, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Givens, Miss Alla Givens, Mr. and Mrs. W. HERE'S COSTUME FOR NEW CAR

Here's a recent creation of Jean Patou to accompany a new model roadster. The dress is made of beige maroon wool crepe with white piping vest. The coat is a beige and brown tweed mixture with a deep, soft collar of dark brown beaver fur. The ensemble harmonizes perfectly with the car coloring and fittings.

By JEAN PATOU
For NEA Service

PARIS, Aug. 5.—It is absolutely essential that in these days of modernism perfect harmony should prevail in all spheres of art. Like the artist, the architect, the interior decorator, the couturier and even the automobile manufacturer make their respective arts harmonize.

Many times have I been asked, as a creator of styles, in which manner I conceived of harmony in relation to modern furniture. This very question is now frequently put to me in relation to the modern conception of automobiles.

To either of these queries the same reply could very well apply. I see in all these forms of modern art but the various manifestations of a new technique as well as a new art.

It's Obvious Thing
There seems to me to be no reason for any special study or research work to achieve a synchronization of elements that can obviously exist only in a state of perfect harmony. They are all much too intimately related to risk discord.

In the various branches of modern art creators work simultaneously, with a tacit understanding that makes any complementary linkings unnecessary.

Conceived in the same "ambiance" or atmosphere, starting from the same basic principles and with the same ultimate goal in view (beauty and elegance combined with perfect comfort) these various branches are not only parallel but in one and the same sphere.

It is not necessary for either the couturier or the automobile body-maker to consult with each other to create something which will harmonize perfectly with what the other has done. The coat created by the couturier for the "sports" automobile will be just as tailored in looks and as comfortable in the car's lines, both built for long journeys in the open air.

Harmony and Color
The color question is not foreign to this search for harmony. This consideration should never be allowed to become monotonous. I have seen women order sweaters to match the color scheme of their automobile. This is an exaggeration of questionable taste.

Sobriety must always be the keynote of any sports color scheme. Whether the dress or car coloring is concerned, vivid colorings, on the other hand, are usually harmonious, provided they are wisely selected. The infinite variety of beiges and browns offer a wide choice for the woman who uses a roadster. She, together with her couturier, can always combine either of these shades with a brilliant touch of color, but as a "grounding" will be unexcelled. For the woman who prefers a closed car, the choice is more varied and I don't know of anything more becoming, more attractive and at the same time more harmonious than a pastel colored ensemble in the setting of a black "carrosserie." In spite of the various shades that are launched every season by body-builders, I think there is nothing that sets off a woman's gowns better than a shining black car.

Miss Cartwright writes that so far the girls have enjoyed three hikes to interesting points in the vicinity of the camp.

The girls have been living in tents that have been named Zuni, Blackfoot, Sioux, Navajo and Acoma in order to carry out the Indian theme that is being used for this year's camp.

Miss Cartwright mentioned that the Camp fire presentation of tribes was solemnized by the groups from each tent. This presentation included exemplification of the manner in which the tribes lived.

In the handicraft classes, the girls are making pottery and other articles that are peculiar to Indian tribes.

Many Local Folk Attend Pretty Wedding in Redondo

Many Santa Anans motored to Redondo Beach last night to attend the wedding of Miss Alice B. Churchill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Churchill, of Compton, formerly of this city, and Lester A. Shaffer of Redondo.

The wedding was solemnized by the Rev. Owen Umsted in the First Congregational church which was made beautiful for the occasion through the use of a profusion of yellow dahlias arranged against a background of feathery fern.

The bride was very lovely in a becoming little frock in printed georgette with accessories in harmonizing tones. She was attended by Miss Kay Schelebecker who wore a pretty frock in tints of blue. Gilbert Shaffer of Redondo served his brother as best man.

Following the service Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer left for a honeymoon to be spent in visiting interesting points in Southern California. On their return they will make their home in Compton for a short while and will move to Redondo this fall.

The bride graduated from the Santa Ana high school in 1927 and later attended the Compton junior college. Her husband is connected with the radio department of the Southern California Music company in Redondo.

Santa Ana Girl Is Hostess at Party At Balboa Beach

Miss Margaret Wilson of Balboa Beach was hostess to a group of her friends one day last week at a delightful afternoon beach party in her attractive home.

Assembling at four o'clock, the guests enjoyed a refreshing hour in the bay and ocean, returning to the beach to find a huge bonfire and picnic dinner awaiting them. Following the appetizing dinner, a marshmallow toast was held over the embers of the fire.

Music from a portable radio set provided a suitable background for chatting, singing and strolls which brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

Those sharing the beach party with Miss Wilson were Miss Marjorie Adams, Miss Marian Parsons, Miss Willena Bell, Miss Carmelle Swain, Miss Gladys Early, Miss Dolly Boyle, Miss Emma Tannenbaum, Miss Helen Stein, Miss Mary Helen Bell, Miss Marjorie Walton and Mrs. Fleetwood Bell and Mrs. Andrew Wilson, mother of Miss Wilson.

Santa Ana Elks to Picnic In Irvine Park

Memories of earlier B. P. O. E. picnics add to the interest which is felt by Santa Ana Elks and their wives in the annual picnic of B. P. O. E. Lodge No. 794 which is to be held at Irvine park tomorrow night, with supper at 6:30 o'clock.

Adding to the interest of the feminine picnickers is the fact that they will be relieved of the usual worry and fuss of preparation of picnic viands, with thoughtful hospitality, the hosts are planning to have a delectable supper prepared and served by that famous chef of the Elks club, W. K. Duffy.

Special entertainment of the evening will include dancing with some attractive prizes, and other surprise features. Included on the committee in charge of hospitable plans, are Fred Newcomb, exalted ruler; E. R. Majors, secretary; W. R. Gordon, and Elmer Schanella.

FRESHEN ICE BOXES

Refrigerator sets in glass add to the immaculate appearance of the ice box, the Aucust American Home points out. Their transparency is attractive, and the covered containers obviate the possibility of odors.

Space saving sets are made in either circular or square design. The latter is composed of two large boxes placed one above the other, and two small ones which fit side by side on top of the larger box. The one lid serves for the whole set, as the containers are used one above the other. This set is made of clear glass. An arrangement of this type should encourage thrift in the household as useful left-overs are often thrown away simply because of lack of space in the refrigerator.

CLEAN STOVE

Wipe off your stove with a cloth soaked in vinegar before polishing. This removes all grease.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Here's a tangled web of human emotions, gripping and tragic, with undercurrents of motive for human action which are not so praiseworthy.

Mrs. Vera Kastelmeyer, 26, appeared in a Pittsburgh court the other day to battle for the chance to keep her husband's baby by "the other woman."

The other woman, Josephine Korsorek, 18, stood in court, too, battling for the baby whom she had once surrendered to her lover's wife, only to find herself unable to live bereft of her child.

The man, the newspaper version had it, stood by silently as first his wife and then "the other woman," the mother of his child, set forth why each believed she had prior claim to the little baby girl.

The court gave the child to the man's wife, condemning both the man and the mother of the child, and insisting that a wife who would make so magnanimous a gesture was certainly more deserving of the child than the mother herself.

A MOTIVE?

I wonder if the judge was exactly right. Will I seem too cynical if I pause to wonder if perhaps this "magnanimous gesture" of the wife wasn't perhaps rather a play to the gallery, a bid for public acclaim, as well as a bid to fasten her husband once and for all permanently and securely to herself, anything else being impossible after she had done this thing for him?

This isn't the first wife to take in her husband's child by some other woman, and in many such cases as observed by some of us it has been amply demonstrated that the husband paid all the rest of his life for this "magnanimous gesture" on the part of the wife. She never let him forget it. She used his child as lifetime ammunition for her every wish and whim, and what man could galsay a woman who had been so supremely noble?

THE "OTHER WOMAN"

As for the judge's condemnation of the 18-year-old unwed mother who pleaded before him for her baby, it seems to me that this girl's character is much more obviously noble than the wife's.

She hadn't a thing in the world to gain by entering that courtroom but her child. She had tried working and living for half a year with no evidence of what the world would call "her guilt." She had not found job after job closed to her first one decent social contact and then another wiped out, because it was found that she had a child.

But she was voluntarily exchanging the easy way for the hard one. She was choosing hardship and poverty and fearful struggle just so that she might have her child. She had nothing to gain but satisfied mother love. Her baby would not be a weapon for her against the world, as in the wife's case, but a deadly weapon in the hands of the world against her.

But the judge condemned her for "vicious conduct and character."

"And the man stood by silently." He plays an inconspicuous part in the story, and yet there is something deeply tragic about his inarticulate silence. Perhaps pity is wasted, but, after all, the man did not run away; after all, he did face the music; after all, he did stand by to see two women suffer publicly for his sake and sin.

Perhaps some day the world will not make things quite so hard for one half while the other half plays and laughs.

SMART BLOUSE

Tailored hip-lines are the hall mark of chic in new lingerie blouses that do not tuck in. Jean Patou fits a white crepe de chine blouse, with intricate hand-drawn work for decoration, until it has the same effect of a skirt yoke fitted to the belt line and then bloused with slight fullness above. The belt on these new tailored hip-line blouses may be at exactly the waistline or slightly above or below.

PUTTING TASTE INTO COOKERY

Four Women Experts Rediscover Old Secret

An old secret rediscovered by four well-known women cooking experts is worth the attention of every woman in the United States. Vegetables are rated by scientists with milk and fruits as essential foods. Anything that will make good vegetables more delicious, hence more widely eaten, is of importance to the national health.

That is exactly the problem these women experts were working on—how to make vegetables so delicious that every member of the family will enjoy them and eat them. They cooked vegetables in many ways. They worked and tasted patiently. All voted unanimously in every case in favor of vegetables cooked in little water and with the addition of a dash of sugar. How simple—yet how far-reaching!

Try this simple rule today with beets, peas, string beans, lima beans, corn, carrots, parsnips, sweet potatoes, squash, onions, tomatoes, cucumbers, spinach, asparagus, beet greens and celery. Try using a little sugar and just notice the difference in flavor. Remember it does not make the vegetables taste sweet. It makes them fresher, brighter and better.

Add also a little sugar to meat and vegetable soup blends. Watch how it brings out the flavors of the meats and vegetables. A little sugar promotes successful cookery. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Buttered Radishes; Sounds Queer, But Taste Good

When oddities in food tastes are in question, most of the world agrees with the old Quaker whose egotistic credo was expressed in "all the world is queer but me and thee and sometimes I think that even thee is a bit queer."

But it isn't wise to laugh too soon, for sometimes the food oddity of today becomes the fashion of tomorrow.

Who would think of buttering radishes? Yet, that is one of the new ways to serve them and really quite delicious. I can well remember how aghast I was at seeing a guest at my table dress sliced raw tomatoes with sugar and cream and eat them with a spoon. . . . Not to be outdone, I tried it in private and found the combination more than good.

TODAY'S RECIPE Spiced Tongue

5 pounds fresh tongue
2 teaspoons powdered mace
2 teaspoons nutmeg
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups brown sugar
1-2 cup vinegar
1-2 cup raisins
1 teaspoon whole peppercorns
1 teaspoon allspice (whole)
This is an old Jewish recipe for cooking spiced tongue, delicious even though highly spiced.

The tongue is first boiled for two hours in slightly salty water, then it is taken from the water, the outer skin peeled off and the surface rubbed with the mace, nutmeg and salt. It is then returned to the broth in which it was cooked, the sugar, vinegar, raisins and whole spices are added and cooking continues for an hour or perhaps longer—at least until the meat is easily pierced by a fork. Cool the tongue in the seasoned broth.

Tongue cooked in this fashion can be served in seven ways: Sliced thin, the plate attractively garnished, it is served with a horseradish sauce made of equal parts of whipped cream, tart mayonnaise and drained horseradish. With thin buttered dry bread you can have delicious sandwiches, while the bits that cannot be sliced can be diced and mixed with fresh tomatoes, shredded green pepper and celery in a salad.

Two small thin slices of tongue have a calorie value of 100. All meats belong to the tissue-building protein class.

Periodically many people have a keen desire for a Chinese dinner which may or may not be satisfied, depending on locality. Why not have a home-cooked Chinese dinner? If a Chinese grocery is not handy you can usually find the necessary ingredients in a high-class delicatessen or you can buy them by mail from a Chinese store.

But about the recipes—if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I will send you the current leaflet free of charge, titled FAVORITE CHINESE DISHES.

The recipe for tomorrow will be a frozen salad called Snowball Salad.

MIDWAY CITY WILL ENTER H. B. FLOAT

MIDWAY CITY, Aug. 5.—Midway City will enter the festival of lights to be held September 17 in Huntington Beach entering one of the floats which are each to portray lights from the beginning to the present time. The Women's club will be in charge of the float, which will be financed by the chamber of commerce.

A report was made at the last chamber meeting on the Consolidated Fruit Syrup company, which plans to establish a plant here. This factory will bring many new residents here, it is reported.

A report was made on a proposed industry for the former Pacific Southwest poultry plant. Further discussion of the opening of the Santa Ana boulevard west from the Midway City corner to the Coast boulevard was held and the venture seems assured, it is reported.

WOMAN MADE PRESIDENT OF BEACH C. OF C.

LAGUNA BEACH, Aug. 5.—A woman is the new president of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce. Dr. F. E. Mallister, realtor, active in the Business and Professional Women's club and in civic affairs, was prevailed on to accept the position when every man on the board of directors pleaded too many other duties when the chamber met August 2.

Promising that she would make an effort to interest more women in the work of the chamber of commerce and pointing to the need of more funds to prosecute the plans of the civic body, Dr. Callister took the gavel and presided at the conclusion of the meeting. She takes the place of P. C. Pemberton, resigned.

Approval of the report of the street naming committee, also headed by Dr. Callister, was given by the directors and members present, with the suggestion that certain business streets not be given new names, but that the plan be otherwise carried out. This will be the recommendation of the chamber of commerce to the city council. Consideration of the project by the latter body is promised on Wednesday evening, August 7. The street naming plan contemplates renaming throughout the city, using the names of artists arranged alphabetically both ways.

MCLAGLEN HERE IN ALL-TALKIE "BLACK WATCH"

Opening a four day engagement at the Fox-Broadway theater today, Victor McLaglen and Myrna Loy appear in "The Black Watch," great Fox picture, made by John Ford.

A story of 1914, but not of the war, the picture is one chiefly laid in India, where McLaglen, as Captain Donald King, of the Scotch regiment known as "The Black Watch," is sent to quell a rebellion started by Yasmani, (Myrna Loy). He is taken away from his regiment secretly on the eve of its departure for France and his comrades believe him to be a slacker who asked for transfer to evade the battlefield.

His dealing with Yasmani, his love for her, his victory over her and his return to the regiment in Flanders, go to make the story one of adventure, love and intrigue.

In the cast also are Roy D'Arcy, David Torrence, Mitchell Lewis, Walter Long and Cyril Chadwick. The picture is all-talking and is Santa Ana's first appearance of McLaglen in an all-talker.

JUST GETTING STARTED NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Ninety-four and just getting started in life, is Major F. Arnold Robert Civil war veteran. He smokes was never married, likes horses and walks about six hours a day. His smoking is featured by the consumption of from 20 to 50 cigarettes a day. "Yes, I'm 34," he says, "but I'm still good for 20 more."

from Broadway, the center of the city. The chamber also voted to join the Orange County Coast association as a body, provided that its membership be for a year instead of for a portion of a year. The vacancy caused by the resignation of William Bernard was filled by the appointment of G. W. Schmelzel, merchant.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

'Course all the Tinymites were glad that Scouty was a real brave lad. He'd captured Mister Lion, and he wasn't scared at all. The growling beast got quite a scare when Scouty's rope sailed through the air. And now the beast was locked up tight, and this pleased one and all.

As all the Tinymites stood around, wee Scouty said, "Well, you have found that I'm a pretty smart young lad. You'd best cheer me again." And so they did. Then Copy said, "Don't let your act go to your head. Most anyone is apt to do a brave stunt now and then."

"Oh, do you think so?" Scouty snapped. "Well, I just challenge you. You're trapped. Name anything you want to and I'll do it best of all. We'll have a contest, here and now. I trust it won't end in a row. I'd even run a foot race but I fear that you would fall."

This argument amused the rest, and Clowny said, "I think it best that you two lads be quiet. We don't want to see a fight. Of course, if there's some good fair race that you have around this place, we'll all be glad to watch you 'cause 'twill be a funny sight."

Just then the circus boss came near and said, "Just see what I have here. A couple of dandy chariots, and dogs to pull them, too. If you two lads must race for fun, this is the way it can be done. You each can have a chariot, and now it's up to you."

Brave Scouty cried, "That's all we need," and Copy thereupon agreed. "We'll race around the circus track to see who's best," said he. So each one took a little cart and soon were all set for the start. Then Clowny shouted, "Go!" It was as thrilling as could be.

(Clowny meets a little girl in the next story.)

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is given. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

3. The order of the letters can not be changed.

FIRE TO TRAP—Here's one hazard you never encounter out on the links. But we're sure you'll enjoy playing out of this FIRE TRAP.

EVENING SALUTATION

"It is not the eye but the spirit that furnishes proof of theories—and it errs most of the time."

—Dr. Albert Einstein.

THE RULING PASSIONS

People are ruled by sentiment and it certainly is proper that it should be so. It is not really a note of disparagement to say "that is not practical, it is merely sentimental."

There is no important act or decision where sentiment of some sort does not play the most important part. The sentiment may be love, hate, patriotism, religious fervor, honor, revenge, pity or any other emotion which at times rules the reason.

Even when cold and pitiless logic is followed to its conclusion, and the result obtained and acted on seems devoid of all sentiment and emotion, the action is really determined by the overruling desire to avoid all sentimental impulses and act according to reason alone. This in itself is sentimental.

Of course, all sentiment is not laudable, neither is it necessarily weak to follow its dictates. The words, "only maudlin sentiment," used by the police to characterize sympathy with the accused becomes benevolence or charity when seen from another side.

All this anent the question of punishment for a woman about to become a mother. She pleaded guilty to some offense connected with the liquor laws. She was about to be sentenced, justice was to be served, when sentiment entered. The heart of the judge was touched, a new trial was granted and now the district attorney is besieged by the sentiment public to ask for a dismissal of the case. He too, is sentimental, and no doubt when he discovers that to follow mercy rather than justice—both sentiments—will be popular he will follow his own inclination and ask that the case be dismissed. The judge concurring in the sentiment, will dismiss the case.

What has happened? Merely that one sentiment has been too strong for the other, and in this case love, charity, sympathy and mercy have vanquished the love of justice and equality before the law. Of course, the woman should be allowed to go free. If this were to set a precedent, and be the first case where a guilty person escaped the letter of the law, we might advise the prosecutor and judge to steel their minds against the tenderer sentiments, follow justice or the law rather than the dictates of mercy. But it is certainly not so. If the technicalities of the law oftentimes permit the hardened felon to escape, ought not technicalities at times be invoked to satisfy loftier sentiments? There is not much danger of the facts in this case of the disposition of the case becoming a habit or a custom.

Admiral Magruder has got his old job in the navy back after being laid off two years because he criticized a few things in the department. Wish we could get a nice vacation that easily.

MASS EDUCATION IN CHINA

A recent issue of Asia told in detail about the remarkable mass education movement now going on in China. The movement was inaugurated by Dr. Y. C. James Yen. Since 1921 when the movement began in earnest something like five million illiterate Chinese have learned to read.

While doing war work, Dr. Y. C. James Yen, a graduate of Yale and Princeton, of the class of Chinese scholars who are inclined to scorn the illiterate masses of their country, he became impressed with the great need of these same masses to be able to read and write. He had devised a newspaper which circulated among the Chinese serving in the war. Those few who could read, read aloud to those who could not. The eagerness of all, most of them coolies, to hear and see for themselves what was written in their paper was astounding. Dr. Yen was impressed with their native capacity and their great possibility if they could overcome the handicap of illiteracy.

One of the first steps was the simplification of the Chinese alphabet. It has been reduced from 40,000 characters to about 1300. A foundation vocabulary of words has been synthesized. A series of People's Thousand Character Readers which cost only a few cents for a complete set has been published and distributed among the people in large numbers. Together with these instruments the people have received personal appeals to find time to learn to read. When the farmers found that in ninety-six hours—spread in moderate periods over four months—they could really learn to read, the effect was electric, the demand for the readers was enormous. Simultaneously another problem arose, who was to teach them? An observer tells about it:

"The answer to that is one measure of China's awakening. For the first time in all China's known history the educated are teaching those whom such formerly despised, and doing it without remuneration or condescension. . . . Already more than 120,000 individual teachers are doing this spreading. Already upward of 5,000,000 students have been reached. Each student is obligated to become a teacher. To share what he has received—without losing any of it."

Thus is a marvelous and hopeful mass movement taking place in China. No one can really estimate the full result and one is rather speechless with amazement at fundamental education on so vast a scale—not to mention the 1300 character "foundation vocabulary" with which each of the five million and more are coping.

WHAT IS NEWS?

Almost every day one hears someone say: "There is nothing in the paper but murders, accidents, moral irregularities by some prominent citizen, and the like. Why can't we have something decent in the news?" Well, there is a good deal that is decent in the news. If the reader does not find it there, it is because it is murders, thefts, and accidents that arrest him more than the less exciting news. The editorial page of almost every good newspaper deals with news of the highest character, and comments on it. Scattered all through the paper one may find international news of high interest, news about scientific discoveries, news about national events and personages, news about great civic and social experiments, and news of various kinds too evident to recall for the intelligent reader. Pretty much all our national intelligence is promoted by the newspapers, since the great mass of the people get their knowledge from newspapers.

The average reader will find that the newspaper is more of an educator than he has ever dreamed its being. Carlyle once said, "What is hit is history; what is missed is mystery." In the very nature of things, the newspaper is not interested in commonplaces. The fact that John Jones went to town yesterday or had Bill Smith visit him last Sunday may be of interest to the parties whose names are mentioned, but it has little interest for anybody else. For the enlightenment or the interest of John Jones and Bill Smith a certain amount of incidents of the sort must be included in the newspapers. In the main, however, the newspaper must deal with the unusual and the outstanding. It may be a murder or an accident; it may be a great international event like the signing of the Peace Pact in Washington or the glowering of Russian and Chinese troops on the Manchurian border.

There are, of course, all sorts of newspapers, but in the main the people are getting from most of them all the news which keeps them in touch with the great movements of the times as well as its oddities and its irregularities.

We will not believe the country is getting back to normalcy until the stories of trans-Atlantic flights begin to be carried on page 2.

A PENNANT THAT DOESN'T EXIST

You probably have read recently that the Mauretania has had to haul down the blue pennant, emblem of the speed championship of the Atlantic, and that the new champion, the Bremen, has hoisted it.

That's all very well, but if you happen to visit the Bremen, now or in the future, don't ask to see the pennant. You'll only get laughed at. There isn't any such thing.

The "blue pennant," famous as it is, is non-existent. It is, in its way, like the raspberry, which is often given to a man, but which never takes any tangible form. The lucky ship that has it is very proud of it—but this cherished flag, nevertheless, is one that never flutters from any masthead.

Why Wait For George?

A busy executive in New York City took his courage in his hand the other day and dictated a letter to the chairman of a civic committee who had requested his presence at an important conference. "I am always willing to give my time and energy to this public service," wrote the business man, "but I am anxious to know if this meeting will really begin promptly at eight o'clock as announced. I make a point of running my affairs on a regular schedule. At previous committee meetings we have wasted much valuable time waiting for George."

The New York executive did not divulge George's last name. Perhaps it is Put-it-off, or Slow-poke, or Plum-forgot-it. But George, and his relations, live in many towns and hamlets upon this whirling planet. It is George and his dilatory cousins who arrive at the theater at 8:40 p. m., and compel the stage manager to hold the curtain, even though the expectant audience fidgets in its seats. It is George who appears at the dining party, giving as the jaunt excuse that he forgot to look at his watch. It is George who saunters upon the golf course, one full hour behind gentlemen's agreement, to complete a foursome and add amiable conversation to the pastime.

This habit of delay, whether it relates to a reception or a convention, might almost, compel a revision of a popular maxim to read, "Punctuality is the thief of time." In the meanwhile, why not give loitering George the surprise of his life some evening by starting the proceedings without him and absolutely on time?

Child the Same In All Generations

Children of today are about the same as thirty years ago, in temperament, obedience and conduct. They get more out of their first half year's work because of improved methods, but in natural talent rate about the same as always. If there is any noticeable change it is that they are slightly more nervous than they used to be. It may be the faster pace of living now.

These very interesting observations come from Miss Mattie Moore, of Spokane, Wash., who has just retired after forty-two years of continuous teaching—thirty-one years in the same school, same room and same grade. She did not miss a day on account of illness during that long period, nor was she at any time late at class. Spokane should memorialize that teacher. She deserves well of the community which she has served so faithfully and well.

Times change. But children show but little change, elementally, from one generation to another. This teacher, in her service, has virtually covered a complete generation. And yet she finds children today essentially like the children she taught thirty years ago. They may be a bit more nervous, today, because of the faster pace of living.

It is significant that this veteran teacher bears witness that the child of today is about the same in obedience and conduct as the child of thirty years ago. Whatever environment and influence may do for youngsters after they get beyond the elementary grades in school, no markedly vitiating influences or predispositions were noted by this teacher in her work among the children of today.

His Most Precious Crop!

More Truth Than Poetry

MEN AND BUGS

The fly has got but little sense
His intellect is dim,
We gifted men have an immense
Advantage over him.
Yet we have fought him tooth and nail
For centuries untold
And he's as husky and as hale
As in the days of old.

Mosquitoes are but fragile things
More breakable than eggs,
Composed of filmy cobweb wings
And wiry slender legs.
Man has bright brains behind his brow,
However, I predict
That twenty thousand years from now
The skeet will have him licked.

When we observe a silly chap,
Our shoulder blades we shrug,
And our high foreheads slyly tap
And say "There goes a bug."
We jibe at him because he's queer
And wobbly in his mind,
And also voice a subtle sneer
At all the insect kind.

But let's admit we still must lick—
Before we brag too much—
The beetle, aphid, moth and tick,
Mosquito, gnat and such.
Although we have superior brains
Than these poor nites have got
Inside their skulls, the fact remains
That brains don't help a lot.

Seven Little Troubles

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Seven little TROUBLES came marching down the street.
"Where are you going?" asked the Cop on the corner.
"We're going," replied the leader, haughtily, "where we're expected."

TROUBLES are always expected somewhere. No one ever heard a TROUBLE complain of being all dressed up with no place to go.

You don't even have to send a TROUBLE an invitation. All you have to do is to expect him. Just say to yourself that the experts must be right: Business is too good to last; what goes up must come down; better get ready for a business depression.

And right there, quicker than scat, down you go on some TROUBLE'S Engagement Book.

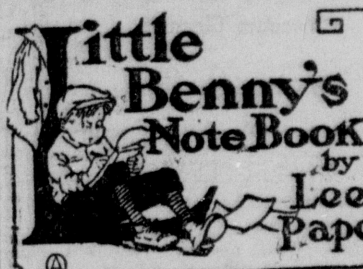

He'll be there on time.
"It's all right, Miss," he will say to the girl in the outer office. "Your Boss is expecting me."

And once he's in, what can you do about it?
Well, try this: Look him straight in the eye and laugh. A TROUBLE would rather take poison than stay in the same room with a hearty laugh.

Next, tell him you've changed your mind about the necessity of getting ready for hard times. Tell him you are determined to get ready for better times.

At that point, the TROUBLE will turn pale and start for the door. Bid him "Good Bye" cheerfully. Open the windows and let in some fresh air.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

THE TRAGEDY OF SUCCESS

There is always a touch of tragedy in success.

It was the great Mazzini, I think, who suggested that the morrow of victory is always more perilous than its eve.

The tragedy of success, the peril of victory, is this—it breeds an unwise caution.

Daring produces success.

Success paralyzes daring.

Once successful, we hesitate about taking chances.

Why run the risk of losing what we have gained?

When this question begins to flit through the mind of a man, the crusader gives way to the coward.

Bobby Jones, the amateur golfer extraordinary, tells an illuminating story of the strain he felt in playing the final round in the National Open Golf Tournament when he had a gratifying lead over his opponent.

According to Jones, the golfer in the lead is likely to err on the side of playing too conservatively.

He has an advantage.

He is keenly aware of the fact that a faulty play will throw that advantage away.

He is tempted to play safe in order to retain that advantage.

He hesitates to play boldly for the greens.

And the reluctance to run the risk of a bad play often results in a bad play.

Fear and over-concern tightens his muscles and lands his ball in the bunker.

Here is an allegory that all may read to advantage.

It is, in many ways, harder to stand prosperity than to stand poverty.

Prosperity is more comfortable than poverty, but it is a seductive comfort that tends to make men cowards.

For all that may be said against such policy, there is an uncanny insight into human nature back of the theory that would make the Servants of God celibate and poor, for responsibilities and riches make men walk softly and dare little.

The moral leaders of the ages have given much thought to the problem of man's adjustment to poverty; they need now to help us to adjust ourselves to prosperity.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SELF-APPRECIATION

There is a difference between conceit and self-appreciation. Conceit makes a boy do silly things to show off. Self-appreciation will keep him from doing such things because they would lower the lad's sense of self-love.

I firmly believe in teaching a boy to think too well of himself to do things that are not right, to consider it beneath him to be bad mannered, selfish, a poor sport in any field. That means I would teach him that good clothes, as good as he can get without extravagance, clean shoes, neat collars and natty ties belong to his ideal of himself as a clean-cut gentleman.

No boy is born a finished character. He must grow through-out a lifetime toward that coveted goal, a gentleman. That sort of growth requires an ideal, a standard, easily attained in the start and when his ideas are vague and his actions indefinite and wavering it is easy to begin with the physical side of life always. Endow that with beauty, instill a personal pride in, attaining that beauty, and you have set a sound foundation for spiritual growth to come.

Teach a boy first to be very clean about his person, from toe nails to tufted crown. Teach him to take pride in his body, to grow it to health and strength, to train it to grace and power, and to keep it always in beautiful form.

Teach him good manners. A boy of nine has no notion of the reason for his being considerate of all women. Nor can you teach it to him though you speak with the tongue of an angel. But you can teach him the manner of it, the outward form, and from that expression will grow the appreciation and understanding of the idea.

Manners are the first step in spiritual growth. Children are taught gentleness of word and manner so that in the years to come they may, in the innermost part of their being, know gentleness, love and patience, practice tolerance and acquire wisdom and understanding in the various occasions that beset all men.

This sort of teaching often brings derision from the other sort. "Snob," "Johnnie Boston Beans," and all the other precious terms that ignorant children hurl at each other come his way. What of it? It is necessary for his soul's good that he learn to stand upon his own feet, to follow his own ideal, to know that what he is doing and the manner of it is good and carry through.

I believe that self-pride, self-appreciation, used wisely, are tremendous forces for character development. To teach a boy—or a girl—to be too proud to dishonor his body, to be too much above meanness, selfishness, poor sportsmanship to ever stoop to them, is no little accomplishment. But the result of such teaching is a man or a woman of whom America is justly proud.

ENGLAND DECLARES WAR

Fifteen years ago today, on Aug. 5, 1914, England declared war upon Germany for violation of Belgium's neutrality.

On August 2, Germany informed the Belgian government of its intention, provoked by alleged French activities, to enter Belgian territory and to advance upon the Meuse valley to attack France.

The following day, Belgium reached its heroic decision to defend its own neutrality and responded to the German ultimatum with the declaration she purposed to defend her soil against German violation.

Belgium also asserted that she had at all times been equally prepared to defend herself against France or Britain, and thus demolished the whole German edifice of allegation that France was planning to attack Germany through Belgium.

The crisis was reached August 4, when King Albert, in presence of actual invasion, appealed to Great Britain, Russia and France, to help him defend his country. Great Britain sent an ultimatum to Germany, which expired at midnight, demanding that satisfactory assur-
